BLACKLIST ORDER BRUSHES ASIDE NEUTRAL RIGHTS

Scathing Denouncement of England's Order Forbidding Financial or Commercial Dealing Between Certain Americans and English Characterizes American Warning Note.

SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES ARE INTIMATED

Order Declared Inconsistent With True Justice and Impartial Fairness Which Should Characterize Dealings of Friendly Nations With Each Other—Condemns Without Hearing, Without Notice and in Advance.

Washington, July 30.—Great Britain is warned in the American note of protest against the blacklist made public tonight by the state department, of the "many serious consequences to neutral rights and neutral relations which such an act must necessarily involve."

Already in the hands of the British foreign office, the note says "in the gravest terms" that it is "manifestly out of the question that the government of the United States should acquiesce in such methods," and that the United States regards the blacklist as "inevitably and essentially inconsistent with the rights of all the citizens of all the nations not involved in the war." It reminds the British government that "citizens of the United States are entirely within their rights in attempting to trade with the people or the governments of any of the nations now at war, subject to the well-defined international practices and understanding which the government of the United States deems the government of Great Britain to have too lightly and too frequently disregarded."

MORE POSITIVE THAN INTIMATED.

The American note is even more positive in its terms than officials have intimated. Ambassador Page was instructed by Acting Secretary Polk to deliver it formally and textually. It follows:

"The announcement that his Britannic majesty's government has placed the names of certain persons, firms and corporations in the United States upon a proscriptive blacklist and has forbidden all financial or commercial dealings between them and the citizens of Great Britain has been received with the most painful surprise by the people and government of the United States and seems to the government of the United States to embody a policy of arbitrary interference with neutral trade against which it is its duty to protest in the most decided terms."

"The scope and effect of the policy are extraordinary. British steamship companies will not accept cargoes from the proscribed firms or persons or transport their goods to any port, and steamship lines under neutral ownership understand that if they accept freight from them they are likely to be denied coal at their own ports, and excluded from other privileges which they have usually enjoyed, and may themselves be put on the blacklist. Neutral bankers refuse to answer to those on the list and neutral merchants decline to contract for their goods, fearing a like proscription. It appears that British officials regard the prohibitions of the blacklist as applicable to domestic commercial transactions in foreign countries as well as in Great Britain and her dependencies, for Americans doing business in foreign countries have been put on notice that their dealings with blacklisted firms are to be regarded as subject to veto by the British government. By the same principle, Americans in the United States might be made subject to similar punitive action if they were found dealing with any of their own countrymen whose names had thus been listed."

DISASTROUS EFFECTS ARE OBVIOUS.

MEXICAN BAND OPPOSITE BIG BEND.

Marathon, Texas, July 30.—Reports of a large body of Mexicans, well mounted and armed, camped on the Mexican side of the boundary opposite the Stillwell crossing, thirty miles below Big Bend, were received here today by Thomas Roberts and Doc Walker, who said they saw the Mexicans, whom they believe to be bandits.

Their number, according to his estimate, could not be less than 500. Roberts said he talked with some of the men, but could learn nothing from them. The only garrison at this point consists of six men of the 1st company, Fourth Texas Infantry.

EXPLOSION CAUSED BY FIRE ON BARGE IN NEW YORK BAY

Detonation Felt in Five States When 85 Loaded Cars of Ammunition Explode on Black Tom Island—Over Sixty People Injured, but Only Two Deaths Reported.

PROPERTY LOSS ESTIMATED $25,000,000

Sailing Craft Damaged—Immigrants Removed from Ellis Island—Forty Thousand Tons of Sugar Burns and 24,000 Bales of Tobacco—Three Prominent Men Arrested Last Night.

New York, July 30.—Property loss estimated at $25,000,000 was caused early today by a series of terrific explosions of ammunition awaiting shipment to the entente allies and stored on Black Tom Island, a small strip of land jutting into New York bay off Jersey City. The loss of life will not be determined definitely until workmen employed on the islands and on boats moored nearby are checked up.

Cause of the explosion is not yet determined. Two are known to be dead and at least two are missing. Scores of persons were injured, some of them probably mortally. The detonations, which were felt in five states, began with a continuous rapid fire of small shells, then the blowing up of great quantities of dynamite, trinitrotholene and other high explosives followed by the bursting of thousands of sharp shells which showered the surrounding country and waters for miles around.

Three towns wiped out. Toronto, Ont., July 30.—The towns of Cochrane, Matheson, Nushka Station and Timmons have been wiped out by disastrous bush fires which started yesterday and burned for several days. The towns are reported burning, it was reported in advices received here today from northern Toronto.

Serious loss of life occurred and it is believed that at least 100 persons have perished. Fifty-seven bodies were reported found at Nushka Station and twenty-five at Matheson. Many are injured. All wires are down north of Englehart and only meagre reports have so far been received from refugees.

A relief trail with doctors has left North Bay for the scene and Cobalt has sent coffins. Cochrane, in Nipissing county, is the largest of the towns burned. It has 1,700 inhabitants. The other towns named are in the same section in Nipissing or Sudbury counties within a radius of twenty-five miles or so. The position in each of these towns is composed of only a few hundred.

The death list will be materially increased, it is feared, by victims in outlying districts. There are apparently well authenticated reports that many prospectors have been trapped at Tashota and Kowash. One farmer and his ten children are known to have been burned, while the man's wife was vainly seeking aid to check the on-rushing flames.

Nushka, a hamlet consisting of a score of frame buildings and stores, suffered worst. It had been threatened for several days, but the residents lingered in the hope they might save their homes. A nearby lake in which they found refuge saved many residents of Cochrane. Officials of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway. Only two streets in the town were saved.

Thirty-four bodies are lying on the platform of the railroad station at Matheson. The station and two houses are the only buildings left standing. Ramore, a small settlement, was wiped out. The flames were checked at Timmons after seven houses had been burned. Only the sawmill was destroyed at South Peapack. All that remains at Iroquois Falls are the remains of the great paper mill and one store.

Refugees without food and clothing are pouring into the larger towns of the burned district. A large number have arrived here and are being sent to Cobalt and Haliburton. Englehart citizens worked all of last night caring for the homeless wanderers. Officials of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railroad adopted energetic measures. Calls for assistance were sent to towns along the line and a fully supplied relief train was sent out.

Hundreds of square miles of bush and farm land have been burned over. Isolated settlers took refuge in lakes and rivers leaving all their belongings behind. Rain was falling tonight at Matheson and several other points, but a long continued downpour will be necessary to extinguish the fires and prevent them from sweeping further southward.

PROSPECTS OF ENTENTE ALLIES BRIGHTEN BUT TEUTONS RECEIVE FRESH TROOPS

London, July 30.—The opening of the present week finds the prospects of the entente allies perhaps brighter than in any previous period of the war, according to the views of here, as the position of the central powers more discouraging. General Brussiloff's striking victories prevent the German general staff with the imperative problem of the Russian front. The eastern front since General von Linsingen, who was sent by the Germans to aid the shattered Austrians, now has been completely thrust back from the Lutsk sector.

But the same problem is presented on the western front, where, says an unofficial correspondent, "the ceaseless battle seems steadily to grind on, pressed forward to the outskirts of the village of Maupas, east of Hardecourt, and also captured positions north of Hem, which lies to the south of Maupas, and held them against violent German counter attacks."

Driving with the French on their right flank from Delville Wood to the Somme, the British made an advance on the entire line and also made further progress against the Germans east of Waterlot farm, Trones wood and Malvern farm. To the north around Ypres the Canadians raided German trenches while the Royal Canadian Engineers on the Loos salient carried out a similar operation.

The Germans raided a front line trench near the H. square, but later were driven back. In the fighting between the Germans and the Russians in Volhynia the men at various points again met in hand-to-hand fighting. The Russian withdrawal from the Stokhod curve has been contemplated for some time and was made without interruption by the Russians.

Although Petrograd claims an advance for the Russians near Brody and south of the Dniester in Galicia, both Berlin and Vienna assert that the Teutonic allies repulsed all attacks. Rome reports a gain of ground for the Italians against the Austrians on the Totezzo plateau north of Monte Cime and in the Tofano region.

The Turks have been driven out from a series of strong positions by the Russians operating toward Sivas and near Kharput, according to Petro-

BLACKLIST ORDER BRUSHES ASIDE NEUTRAL RIGHTS

Scathing Denouncement of England's Order Forbidding Financial or Commercial Dealing Between Certain Americans and English Characterizes American Warning Note.

SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES ARE INTIMATED

Order Declared Inconsistent With True Justice and Impartial Fairness Which Should Characterize Dealings of Friendly Nations With Each Other—Condemns Without Hearing, Without Notice and in Advance.

Washington, July 30.—Great Britain is warned in the American note of protest against the blacklist made public tonight by the state department, of the "many serious consequences to neutral rights and neutral relations which such an act must necessarily involve."

Already in the hands of the British foreign office, the note says "in the gravest terms" that it is "manifestly out of the question that the government of the United States should acquiesce in such methods," and that the United States regards the blacklist as "inevitably and essentially inconsistent with the rights of all the citizens of all the nations not involved in the war." It reminds the British government that "citizens of the United States are entirely within their rights in attempting to trade with the people or the governments of any of the nations now at war, subject only to well defined international practices and understanding which the government of the United States deems the government of Great Britain to have too lightly and too frequently disregarded."

MORE POSITIVE THAN INTIMATED.

The American note is even more positive in its terms than officials have intimated. Ambassador Page was instructed by Acting Secretary Polk to deliver it formally and textually. It follows:

"The announcement that his British majesty's government has placed the names of certain persons, firms and corporations in the United States upon a proscription 'blacklist' and has forbidden all financial or commercial dealings between them and the citizens of Great Britain has been received with the most painful surprise by the people and government of the United States and seems to the government of the United States to embody a policy of arbitrary interference with neutral trade against which it is its duty to protest in the most decided terms."

British citizens and companies will not accept cargoes from the proscribed firms or persons or transport their goods to any port, and steamship lines under neutral ownership understand that if they accept freight from them they are likely to be denied coal at British ports and excluded from other privileges which they have usually enjoyed, and may themselves be put on the blacklist. Neutral bankers refuse to answer to those on the list and neutral merchants decline to contract for their goods, fearing a like proscription. It appears that British officials regard the prohibitions of the blacklist as applicable to domestic commercial transactions in foreign countries as well as in Great Britain and her dependencies, for Americans doing business in foreign countries have been put on notice that their dealings with blacklisted firms are to be regarded as subject to the same punitive action if they were found dealing with any of their own countrymen whose names had thus been listed."

DISASTROUS EFFECTS ARE OBVIOUS.

"The harsh and even disastrous effects of this policy upon the trade of the United States and upon the neutral rights upon which it will not fail to insist, are obvious. Upon the list of those proscribed and in effect shut out from the general commerce of the world may be found American concerns which are engaged in large commercial operations as importers of foreign products and materials and as distributors of American products and manufactures to foreign countries and which constitute important channels through which American trade reaches the outside world. Their foreign affiliations may have been fostered for many years and when once broken cannot easily or promptly be re-established. Other concerns may be put upon the list at any time and without notice. It is understood that additions to the proscription may be made whenever on account of enemy nationality or enemy association of such persons or bodies of persons it appears to his majesty's government to be expedient to do so. The possibilities of undeserved injury to American citizens from such measures, arbitrarily taken, and of serious and incalculable interruptions of American trade are without limit."

CITIZENS HAVE RIGHT TO TRADE WITH OTHERS.

"It has been stated on behalf of his majesty's government that these measures were aimed only at the enemies of Great Britain and would be adopted and enforced with strict regard to the rights of neutrals and with the least possible detriment to the British trade. It is evident that they are inevitably and essentially inconsistent with the rights of the citizens of all the nations not involved in war. The government of the United States begs to remind the government of his majesty that citizens of the United States are entirely within their rights in attempting to trade with the people or the government of any of the nations now at war, subject only to well defined international practices and understanding which the government of the United States deems the government of Great Britain to have too lightly and too frequently disregarded."

There are well known remedies and penalties in government practice, but where the blockade is real and in fact effective for trade in contraband, for every unneutral act, by whomsoever attempted. The government of the United States cannot consent to see those remedies and penalties altered or extended at the will of a single power or group of powers to the injury of its own citizens or in derogation of its own rights. Conspicuous among the principles which the civilized nations of the world have accepted for the safeguarding of the rights of neutrals is the just and honorable principle that neutrals may not be condemned nor their goods confiscated except upon fair adjudication and after an opportunity to be heard in prize courts. Such safeguards the blacklist brushes aside. It condemns without hearing, without notice and in advance. It is manifestly out of the question that the government of the United States should acquiesce in such methods or applications of punishment to its citizens."

INCONSISTENT WITH TRUE JUSTICE.

"Whatever may be said with regard to the legality, in the view of international obligation, of the act of parliament upon which the practice of the blacklist as now employed by his majesty's government is understood to be based, it is inconsistent with true justice."

NATIONAL GUARD PICKETS FRED ON BY MEXICAN BAND

SHOTS EXCHANGED BETWEEN OUTPOSTS OF FIRST ILLINOIS CAVALRY AND SUPPOSED MEXICAN BANDITS NEAR BROWNSVILLE EARLY YESTERDAY.

RAID ON CAVALRY HORSES

Other Patrols Fired on Several Hours Later—Surrounded House from Which Shots Came—Signal Rocket from House Answered by One on Mexican Side.

Brownsville, July 30.—Several shots were exchanged last night between outposts and guards at the camp of the First Illinois cavalry and supposed Mexican bandits who apparently were attempting to raid picket lines of cavalry horses. So far as is known there were no casualties on either side. The shooting took place two and one-half miles north of Brownsville.

The first trouble occurred at 12:45 a. m., when a guard, H Troop, Illinois National Guard, on the north of the camp, discovered four mounted men, several hundred yards distant, moving toward the east. Two patrols sent out to investigate saw a man leading four horses. Challenged by the guards he answered with two volleys from a shotgun and disappeared in the underbrush as the guards fired the shots. Two or three other prowlers were then seen as the guards advanced on a skirmish line. They fled abandoning the horses.

Another patrol was sent out to cut off the escape of the supposed bandits from the river, and they were also fired on. They returned the fire, it was unable to see the persons who fired the shots.

Another outpost was fired on from ambush about 2:15 o'clock, but was unable to see anyone because of the darkness. Two more shots were fired toward the camp about 3 o'clock. About 3:20 o'clock the first patrol sent out was fired on the second time and immediately surrounded a house from which it was thought the shots came, but found nothing to confirm their suspicion. According to a report at camp, at the time the house was being surrounded a skyrocket was set off about a quarter of a mile north of the camp, and answered, it seemed, by a second skyrocket, apparently set off on the Mexican side of the river. The incidents were officially reported to Fort Brown.

CHICAGO MORGUES UNABLE TO HOLD ALL HEAT VICTIMS

FIVE NIGHTS SHOW HIGHEST TEMPERATURE IN CHICAGO IN 44 YEARS—RELIEF FORECAST FOR TODAY WITH SLIGHTLY COOLER WEATHER.

RIOTOUS SCENE ON BEACHES

More Than 100,000 Persons Besiege Gates on North Shore Beaches After Standing for Hours Waiting to Get to Water—Hundred Policemen Answer Riot Call.

Chicago, July 30.—Promise of relief from the torrid weather that has prevailed for a week and more came tonight at the end of a day during which the thermometer reached a point within a fraction of a degree of the highest ever recorded in the Chicago forecast district. As a result of the protracted heat, culminating in a maximum of 102 degrees at 4 p. m. today, the human death rate reached a point where county morgue officials said there was no more room in the institution for bodies. Prostrations increased greatly, riotous scenes at the beaches among the thousands seeking relief in the lake made necessary the services of extra police, while the health department announced that hundreds of horses were lying in the streets where they had fallen dead from the heat.

RELIEF BY MORNING.

The condition which brought all this about, according to Charles L. Mitchell, assistant forecaster of the local weather bureau, will change by morning. Indications were that Monday would be cloudy and grow gradually cooler and that Tuesday would be pleasant. The forecaster said the five nights from last Wednesday had shown the highest minimum temperature recorded here in the forty-four years that the bureau has been in existence. A high pressure front forming in the northwest was bringing relief eastward, Mr. Mitchell said. The cooler weather was proceeding more rapidly along a line embracing Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth and extending more slowly southward from that line. Out of 185 deaths reported today, upward of 100 were said to be due directly or indirectly to the heat. Five hundred horses had died of heat in the last few days and 200 carcasses were lying throughout the city because of inadequate means for their removal, the health department reported.

WILD SCENES ON BEACH FRONT.

Wild scenes occurred at the North Shore beaches today when more than 100,000 persons besieged the gates after standing for hours in long lines awaiting a chance to reach the water. The crowds began gathering at 7 o'clock this morning. Extra details of police were required before order could be restored. Many women and children swooned from the heat and excitement. At Clarendon, the newest of the municipal beaches, the crowd made a rush for the entrances and a riot call brought 100 extra policemen, who restored the lines with the aid of clubs.

"Some Moderation" Promised. Washington, July 30.—Only for scattered sections of the country is relief from the heat wave in sight. The weather bureau expects "some moderation" by Tuesday in the lower Ohio valley.

FOREST FIRES WIPE OUT TOWNS AND TAKE MANY LIVES

SMALL TOWNS IN NORTHERN ONTARIO VICTIMS OF GREAT FOREST FIRES—PROSPECTORS ARE TRAPPED AT TASHOTA AND KOWASH.

REFUGEES ARE WITHOUT FOOD

Pour Into Larger Towns of District. Relief Trains Sent—Many Abandoned Everything to Seek Safety in Lakes and Rivers—Rain May Extinguish Fires.

Englehart, Ont., July 30.—Forest fires raging in northern Ontario are believed to have resulted in the loss of from 150 to 200 lives. Other scores of persons have been injured and it is feared many of them may die. Several small towns have been wiped out by the flames that have been raging for 48 hours.

Reports thus far received show that fifty-seven perished at Nushka, a French Canadian settlement, and thirty-four at Matheson. Cochrane has eighteen dead and thirty-four injured. Iroquois Falls has fifteen dead and many injured and Ramore fifteen dead. The number killed at Iroquois Junction is not known but the entire town was destroyed except the railroad station.

Three Towns Wiped Out.

Toronto, Ont., July 30.—The towns of Cochrane, Matheson, Nushka Station and Timmons have been wiped out by disastrous bush fires which started yesterday and burned for several days. Iroquois Falls and Ramore are reported burning, it was reported in advices received here today from northern Toronto.

A serious loss of life occurred and it is believed that at least 100 persons have perished. Fifty-seven bodies were reported found at Nushka Station and twenty-five at Matheson. Many are believed to have been asphyxiated by the smoke. All wires are down north of Englehart and only meagre reports have so far been received from refugees.

A relief train with doctors has left North Bay for the scene and Cobalt has sent coffins. Cochrane, in Nipissing county, is the largest of the towns burned. It has 1,700 inhabitants. The other towns named are in the same section in Nipissing and Sudbury counties within a radius of twenty-five miles or so. The population in each of these towns is composed of only a few hundred.

The death list will be materially increased, it is feared, by victims in outlying districts. There are apparently well authenticated reports that many prospectors have been trapped at Tashota and Kowash. One farmer and his ten children are known to have been burned while the man's wife was vainly seeking aid to check the on-rushing flames.

Nushka, a hamlet consisting of a score of frame buildings and stores, suffered worst. It had been threatened for several days, but the residents lingered in the hope they might save their homes.

A nearby lake, in which they found refuge, is feared to have been polluted by the flames of Cochrane, on the line of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway. Only two streets in the town were saved.

Thirty-four bodies are lying on the platform of the railroad station at Matheson. The station and two houses are the only buildings left standing. Ramore, a small settlement, was wiped out. The flames were checked at Timmons after seven houses had been burned. Only the sawmill was destroyed at South Pe'upine. All that remains at Iroquois Falls are the remains of the great paper mill and one store.

REFUGEES WITHOUT FOOD AND CLOTHING.

Refugees without food and clothing are pouring into the larger towns of the burned district. A large number have arrived here and are being sent to Cobalt and Haliburton. Englehart citizens worked all of last night caring for the homeless wanderers. Officials of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway are making the ergatic measures. Calls for assistance were sent to towns along the line and a fully supplied relief train was sent out.

Hundreds of square miles of bush and land have been burned over. Isolated settlers took refuge in lakes and rivers leaving all their belongings behind.

Rain was falling tonight at Matheson and several other points, but a long continued downpour will be necessary to extinguish the fires and prevent them from sweeping further southward.

Baltimore, Md., July 30.—Although the German submarine Deutschland still was at her pier here tonight, developments during the last twenty-four hours indicated the intention of Capt. Paul Koenig, her commander, to leave in a short time.

EXPLOSION CAUSED BY FIRE ON BARGE IN NEW YORK BAY

Detonation Felt in Five States When 85 Loaded Cars of Ammunition Explode on Black Tom Island—Over Sixty People Injured, but Only Two Deaths Reported.

PROPERTY LOSS ESTIMATED $25,000,000

Sailing Craft Damaged—Immigrants Removed from Ellis Island—Forty Thousand Tons of Sugar Burns and 24,000 Bales of Tobacco—Three Prominent Men Arrested Last Night.

New York, July 30.—Property loss estimated at $25,000,000 was caused early today by a series of terrific explosions of ammunition awaiting shipment to the entente allies and stored on Black Tom Island, a small strip of land jutting into New York bay off Jersey City. The loss of life will not be determined definitely until workmen employed on the islands and on boats moored nearby are checked up.

Cause of the explosion is not yet determined. Two are known to be dead and at least two more are missing. Scores of persons were injured, some of them probably mortally.

The detonations, which were felt in five states, began with a continuous rapid fire of small shells, then the blowing up of great quantities of dynamite, trinitroethylene and other high explosives followed by the bursting of thousands of sharp-shelled shells, which scattered the surrounding country and waters for miles around.

FIRE DESTROYS THIRTEEN WAREHOUSES.

Fire then destroyed thirteen of the huge warehouses on Black Tom Island, including merchandise valued at between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000. The flames were reflected against New York's "skyline" of towering office buildings, which a few moments before were shaken as if by an earthquake. Miles of streets in Manhattan were strewn with broken glass and shattered signs. Officials of the National Storage company at the Lehigh Valley railroad declared that reports to them showed a fire started shortly after 1 o'clock this morning on a barge belonging to an independent towing company that has been moored alongside a dock used by the railroad company to transfer ammunition shipments from trains to vessels in the harbor.

The officials said they were investigating "to ascertain whether the barge purposely was set on fire as the result of a plot." A statement issued tonight by the Lehigh Valley Railroad company said:

"Thirteen brick storage warehouses out of the twenty-four owned and operated by the National Storage company and six piers owned by the National Storage company and leased to the Lehigh Valley Railroad company were badly damaged and some minor damage was done to the Lehigh Valley grain elevators. In addition, so far as is known, eighty-five loaded cars were destroyed."

Warrants charging manslaughter were issued late tonight for the arrest of Albert M. Dickman, agent at the Lehigh Valley Railroad company; Theodore E. Johnson, head of the Johnson Lighterage and Towing company, and Alexander Davidson, superintendent of the National Storage company. They are accused of having illegally permitted explosives to be stored where human life was endangered.

Johnson's company had been engaged, it was said, in lightening munitions from the docks to ships in the harbor.

A statement issued this afternoon by the Lehigh Valley railroad company as sent.

40,000 TONS OF SUGAR LOST.

Some 40,000 tons of raw sugar, valued at approximately $1,400,000, is known to be lost. It is believed that the other contents of the warehouses destroyed will greatly increase this amount. There were no explosives stored in the warehouses. The mishap will not interfere with the operation of business.

Edmond L. Mackenzie, president of the National Storage company, declared tonight that the plant of his concern was valued at $3,000,000, while the contents of the warehouses probably were worth $10,000,000. One of the warehouses which remains intact, he said, is filled with chemicals. Beside the great quantity of raw sugar burned there were 24,000 bales of tobacco, much matting from China and Japan, and other merchandise. The loss of his company and the railroad, Mackenzie said, was partly covered by insurance.

"As far as I have been able to ascertain," said Mr. Mackenzie, "there apparently has not been a great loss of life. This undoubtedly was due to the fact that few persons live in the vicinity of our plant. There were, of course, a number of private watchmen and firemen on the ground at the time but all of these except two have been accounted for."

CHILD KILLED BY SHOCK.

The body of an unidentified man was recovered from the water near the Lehigh Valley pier. A child in Jersey City, N. J., was killed by the shock from the explosion. Many men told stories of having

Prospects of Entente Allies Brighten But Teutons Receive Fresh Troops

London, July 30.—The opening of the present week finds the prospects of the entente allies perhaps brighter than in any previous period of the war, according to the views held here and the position of the entente powers more encouraging.

General Brusiloff's striking victories prevent the German general staff with the imperative problem of how to reinforce the eastern front since General von Ludendorff has shattered Austrians, now has been completely thrust back from the Lutsik salient.

But the same problem is presented the western front, where, says an unofficial correspondent, "the ceaseless battle seems steadily to gain in intensity. Doubtless the constant arrival of fresh German troops and guns has everything to do with this result. The enemy shows an increasing tendency to counter attack."

These counter attacks have failed to stem the steady entente advance, and although at the present moment the fighting on the Somme is mainly devoted to securing mastery of small strategic positions, which will be the keys to further progress, there is yet no sign of the Germans making an effective counter offensive.

The Russians remarkable victories reveal a most interesting situation. The army of the German general, Count von Bothmer, holding the Strupa line, has been driven back to the south by General Letchitsky's successful advance when the Diester flooded prevented Letchitsky's further progress. This enabled Von Bothmer to hold on to the positions. General Sakharoff then devoted himself to enveloping Von Bothmer's force on the north, with what success is seen in his double victory west of Lutsik and at Brody.

Thus outflanked north and south, it is considered impossible that Count von Bothmer can longer delay extracting himself from his precarious position without serious losses. The Russians at Brody are at present nearer Lemberg than Von Bothmer's forces, which are entrusted with Lemberg's defense, although the country between Brody and Lemberg is very difficult, it is believed.

comes a question whether the evacuation of Both Kovel and Lemberg will not soon become necessary.

War Summary. The British and French forces fighting against the Germans in the Somme region of France have again launched violent attacks and made good progress, while the Russians in Volhynia, in the region of the Stokhod river, have forced the Germans to give further ground before their advance.

To the north of the Somme, trenches between Hill 135 and the river near Hardecourt have been captured by the French on a depth of from 200 to 800 meters and in addition the French have pressed forward to the outskirts of the village of Maurapas, east of Hardecourt, and also captured positions north of Hem, which lies to the south of Maurapas, and held them against violent German counter attacks.

Driving with the French on their right flank from Delville Wood to the Somme, the British made an advance on the entire line and also made further progress against the Germans east of Waterlot farm, Trones wood and Maltzorn farm. To the north around Ypres the Canadians raided German trenches while the Royal Munster fusiliers on the Loos salient carried out a similar operation.

The Germans raided a front line trench near the Hottensholzen redoubt, but later were driven back. In the fighting between the Germans and the Russians in Volhynia the men at various points again met in hand-to-hand combats. Berlin says that the withdrawal from the Stokhod curve has been contemplated for some time and was made without interruption by the Russians.

Although Petrograd claims an advance for the Russians near Brody and south of the Diester in Galicia, both Berlin and Vienna assert that the Teutonic allies repulsed all attacks. Rome reports a gain of ground for the Italians against the Austrians on the Totezzo plateau north of Monte Cime and in the Tofano region.

The Turks have been driven out from a series of strong positions by the Russians operating toward Sivas and near Kharpout, according to Petrograd.

Carranza May Resign and Enter Presidential Contest at Proposed Election

Laredo, Texas, July 30.—Venustiano Carranza is to retire as first chief of the de facto government of Mexico at an early date and will be succeeded by Gen. Pablo Gonzales, according to apparently reliable information given out by Mexican administrative circles in Nuevo Laredo tonight.

The forthcoming conference between Mexican generals with Carranza in Laredo, Texas, it was stated, is to arrange for the call for general elections, the retirement of Carranza and the latter's entering the field as a presidential candidate. It is known that several high army officers are now en route to Mexico City, and the Nuevo Laredo information was that Carranza called the conference to prevent possible friction in military circles over his proposed retirement. No definite date has been set for the conference, but the same authority said Gonzales' succession to Carranza would not be long delayed.

Patriot Hidalgo Honored. Laredo, Texas, July 30.—Flags were at half mast throughout the Mexican republic today in commemoration of Padre Miguel Hidalgo, who was executed in 1811, a martyr to the cause of Mexican freedom. Hidalgo declared a revolution September 16, 1810, to free Mexico from the yoke of Spain, but was captured and executed a year later. Eulogistic speeches and band music marked the commemoration throughout Mexico today.

Carranza Retirement Nominal. Washington, July 30.—The reported intention of General Carranza to retire as first chief so that he may become a candidate for the presidency conforms to the expectations of officials here who have understood he would follow that course as soon as conditions in Mexico warranted the holding of a national election. Such a retirement is expected, will be merely nominal and would not mean any actual change in the directing authority of the Mexican government. Under the Mexican constitution General Carranza will be ineligible as presidential candidate unless he relinquishes his military position.

CHILD LABOR BILL DISTURBS PEACE OF CONGRESSMEN

Washington, July 30.—President Wilson having won his fight for action before adjournment of congress on the bill to prevent interstate commerce in the products of child labor, the senate will take up the measure this week with an interesting struggle over it in prospect.

Passage of the bill is a foregone conclusion, but it will be opposed stubbornly by a group of Southern democratic senators and an attempt will be made by Senator Borah, aided by Southern democrats, to couple with it the immigration bill which the democratic caucus determined to put over until next session. Should the attempt succeed to load the child labor bill with the immigration rider, many of its champions fear its passage will be followed by a presidential veto because of the restrictive literacy test on aliens. As it passed the house, the measure provides:

That no producer, manufacturer or dealer shall ship or deliver for shipment in interstate or foreign commerce the product of any mine or quarry in the United States in which thirty days prior to the removal of such product therefrom, children under 16 years of age have been employed; or the product of any mill, cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment in which thirty days prior to removal of such product therefrom, children under 14 and 16 have been employed more than eight hours a day, more than six days a week or before 6 a. m. or after 7 p. m.

NEW YORK STREET CAR SERVICE TIED UP.

New York, July 30.—Not a wheel moved after 4 o'clock this afternoon on the lines in Manhattan of the Third Avenue railway, 98 per cent of whose motormen and conductors were said by union organizers to have joined the strike that originated in Yonkers, spread quickly to the Bronx and now is designed to paralyze all surface car traffic in New York. Only a few cars were operated in Broadway above Forty-second street and traffic was intermittent on several cross-town lines.

N. Y. STATE HEALTH OFFICER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Albany, N. Y., July 30.—Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, director of vital statistics of the state health department, attempted suicide at his home here today by cutting his throat with a razor.

University Students Get Jobs.

Austin, July 30.—Dr. Frederick Elby, chairman of the appointment committee of the University of Texas, reports that he has already secured during the present session positions in Texas schools for 325 students and ex-students of the university. Five hundred and fifty persons registered with the committee as applicants for positions, and the list is being decreased by appointments made almost daily. Last year the committee secured positions for 452 persons, the combined salaries running up into hundreds of thousands of dollars. This service is done without charge, except for a nominal registration fee for incidental expenses.

valley, along Lake Michigan and in the upper lake region; and a shading down in temperatures already has resulted from thundershowers in the West Plains states and on the eastern slope of the Rockies. Meantime, the high temperature area has extended into the middle and South Atlantic sections and has advanced in the far west to the Pacific coast. New England and the middle Atlantic seaboard, where it has been cooler for a day or two, will be warmer again tomorrow.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 30.—Escanaba, Mich., with 100, and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., with 98, reported new local temperature records today. Deaths attributed to the heat during the four days hot wave up to midnight totaled 264. Approximately 100 prostrations were reported. Of the dead 155 died between 1 o'clock yesterday morning and the same hour tonight, according to coroner and police reports.

Twenty-three Deaths at Milwaukee. Milwaukee, Wis., July 30.—Twenty-three deaths from heat prostration, five cases of drowning and more than 100 cases of prostration were recorded in the twenty-four hours ending at 8 o'clock tonight. All records for heat in Milwaukee for the last forty-five years were exceeded today when the official temperature registered 102½ degrees at 2 p. m., while street level thermometers recorded 106 degrees.

Light Showers at Topeka. Topeka, Kan., July 30.—Light showers here tonight brought relief from the hottest evening of the year the thermometer registering 95 degrees at 7 p. m.

KILLS HUSBAND THEN FIRES SHOT THROUGH OWN BRAIN

Lawton, Okla., July 30.—Mrs. Irene Yoeman about 5 o'clock this morning shot and killed her husband, J. W. Yoeman, as he slept in bed, and then fired a shot through her own brain. Neighbors, hearing the shots fired from a revolver, hurried to the Yoeman home and found the man dead and his wife dying. Mrs. Yoeman is said to have been in ill health for some time, and officers believe her mind became temporarily deranged.

Yoeman was state manager of a Kansas City, Mo. investment company in both Texas and Oklahoma, and he and his wife were pioneers in this section.

been blown hundreds of feet over land and water. Most of the sixty or more injured taken to Jersey City hospitals were struck by shrapnel, falling glass or other debris. Nearly all were in the railroad yards or on craft moored near the island. Included among them are a few women and children whose homes were on barges.

Every window in the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty on Bleecker Island, opposite Black Tom, was broken and the main floor, made of iron and weighing almost a ton, was blown off its hinges. The statue itself, however, was not damaged except from the rain of shrapnel which bespattered it.

Although the plant which furnished power for Bleecker Island was shaken and partly put out of commission, the famous "Light of Liberty" burned steadily throughout the hours of confusion.

ELLIS ISLAND SUFFERS DAMAGE.

Early reports of damage to the buildings on Ellis Island were exaggerated, according to Capt. A. B. Fry, supervising engineer of federal buildings in New York. Captain Fry said the loss could not exceed $50,000.

Most of the damage at the immigration station was in wrecked walks and doorways. Two barges, ablaze and laden with shrapnel shells, drifted to the island. An explosion on one of the barges damaged the structure housing the power plant.

450 IMMIGRANTS ARE REMOVED.

Two to three fire-swept craft grounded on the southwest side of the island, which contains the contagious disease hospital. The medical staff removed 450 immigrants on the island to the Battery.

Many small craft as well as several good-sized steamers and sailing vessels were badly damaged. Crews on the big ocean liners anchored in the harbor or docked along the New Jersey and New York waterfronts declared that when the first two great explosions occurred it appeared as if their vessels were literally picked up out of the water and then hurled back.

All New York cities within a radius of twenty-five miles were awakened by the explosions. Within an hour 6,000 telephone calls went over the police wire from excited inquirers. Hundreds of thousands of persons, many of them scantily clad, ran excitedly through the streets, while automobiles containing policemen, firemen and others dashed along. Detectives were rushed to Maiden Lane, the home of the jewelry industry, to guard against thieves.

In the downtown section countless windows were broken. Scarcely an office building escaped the battery to Fifth street escaped damage.

More than a score of persons, according to the police, were injured in Manhattan and Brooklyn by flying glass.

Thousands of persons in Jersey City fled to the parks after the first explosion. Panic-stricken women wheeled baby carriages about, some of them praying and others screaming.

FIRES STILL RAGING TONIGHT.

The fire on Black Tom island still rages tonight. The large railroad yards of the Lehigh Valley and the reclaimed meadow land for railroads around virtually were covered with great piles of wreckage and countless shrapnel shells, many of which had not exploded.

C. W. Leyden, chief of the Lehigh Valley railroad, was killed while aiding an engine crew in attempting to save a number of freight cars from the fire.

A quantity of dynamite exploded near where he was standing, it was said, and blew his body to atoms. The members of the crew escaped with lacerations and burns.

Mrs. Freda Wilson, wife of a barge captain, and her two small children are missing, and it is feared they perished in the fire.

Shocks Felt in Maryland.

Baltimore, Md., July 30.—Inquiries were made here this morning from towns in the northern and eastern sections of Maryland as to the cause of earth shocks felt in those places. It was thought there had been an explosion on the eastern peninsula.

Not Official Investigation.

Washington, July 30.—No special investigation of the explosion in New York bay will be undertaken by the department of justice unless evidence is developed that it was a plot aimed at the destruction of munitions of war. A. B. Bielaski, chief of the bureau of investigation, received notice from New York today that so far no facts had been developed to show that the explosion was the result of a plot.

NEW YORK NATIONAL GUARDSMEN MAY VOTE

Albany, N. Y., July 30.—The 17,000 New York National Guardsmen in service on the Mexican border are entitled to vote at the November elections, because virtually a state of war exists with Mexico, according to an opinion rendered by Attorney General Egbert B. Woodbury tonight.

based, the government of the United States is constrained to regard that practice as inconsistent with that true justice, sincere amity and impartial fairness which should characterize the dealings of friendly governments with one another. The spirit of reciprocal trade between the United States and Great Britain, the privilege long accorded to the nations of each to come and go with their ships and cargoes, to use each other's shipping and be served each by the other's merchants is very seriously impaired by arbitrary and sweeping practices such as this.

SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES MAY FOLLOW.

"There is no purpose or inclination on the part of the government of the United States to shield American citizens or business houses in any way from the legitimate consequences of neutral acts or practices; it is quite willing that they should suffer the appropriate penalties which international law and the usage of nations have sanctioned; but his Britannic majesty's government cannot expect the government of the United States to consent to see its citizens put on an ex parte blacklist without calling the attention of his majesty's government. In the gravest terms, to the many serious consequences to neutral right and neutral relations which such an act must necessarily involve. It hopes and believes that his majesty's government in its natural absorption in a single pressing object of policy has acted without a full realization of the many undesired and undesirable results that might ensue."

English Papers Publish Note.

London, July 31.—(4:27 a. m.)—The morning newspapers, with only two exceptions, today publish the American note of protest against the British blacklist without comment. The Times adds a brief Washington dispatch, characterizing the protest as a "political maneuver designed to elicit a British disavowal which will be proclaimed as a great triumph for President Wilson's administration."

The Daily Chronicle in a brief editorial says: "The war which we wage inevitably causes neutral inconvenience such as those dwelt upon in the American government's latest note. We would ask them to remember that after all we are fighting not only our own battle but the whole world's battle."

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

YEARS of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result is the practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. John W. Derriek, of Lexington, S. C., says: "My children cry for Castoria, I could not do without it."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaines, of Ripley, Tenn., say: "We enclose our baby's picture hoping it will induce some poor tired mothers to give your Castoria a trial. We have used it since baby was two weeks old."

Mrs. J. G. Parman, of Nashville, Tenn., says: "The perfect health of my baby is due to your Castoria—the first and only medicine he has taken. He is never satisfied with one dose, he always cries for more."

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Johnson, of Stevens Point, Wis., say: "When our baby was two weeks old he cried so much we did everything for him, then got some Castoria and he is now strong and fat. We would not be without it, and are very thankful to you."

Police Raid-- Get 21 Negroes, 3 Kegs of Beer

The police net closed in a negro rendezvous near Fifteenth and Mary streets yesterday afternoon, and the result was a "wet" drag which lacked considerable of being a "water haul." Three beer kegs of the fourteen-gallon capacity were captured and twenty-one negro men were held.

The occasion of the police raid, led by Chief McNamara and Officers Craven, Brandon and Tonahill, was a Sunday morning the Sunday school had fourty-two present and the school commenced with only ten or twelve.

Four installments of the hoodlum transportation facilities of the department were necessary to get the corralled negroes to the city jail.

Officers making the raid declared that they encountered two distinct types of the negroes. One variety of the negroes, when the police appeared acted like a covey of partidges when aroused by a snake, and the other type played the "innocent" game.

Some of the offenders seemed to be horror-stricken when the beer kegs were rolled out of the two-room shack which was too small to accommodate the Sunday crowd.

"Why, sir, boss, I war jes' drapping by to look arter my water." "I declare to de Lawd, Mister Officer, I war looking for my wife down de street and jes' appened up a minute."

Another negro thought his friend was among the crowd and just came over to inquire—absolutely innocent of any booze being in the neighborhood.

One of the officers insisted that the way the negroes were congregated around the cabin reminded him of a bunch of crows settled on a country fence. The negroes were charged with disturbing the peace and their cases will come up before the city court this morning.

Chief McNamara announced yesterday that this class of "Sunday celebration" will be stopped. The force will clamp the lid tight on Sunday drinking and carousal in all parts of Waco, he declared.

Austin Ave. Baraca Class Will Be Host to Working Boys' S. S.

One hundred and fifty members of the Working Boys' Sunday school class will receive tickets of admittance to the second annual watermelon cutting to be given by the Baraca class of the Austin Avenue Methodist church next Friday evening. Autos for carrying the boys to the park will also be furnished by the Baracas.

The cutting last year was a great affair for the boys and they are looking forward with keen pleasure to next Friday's festival, their leader declares. Games and other amusements will add to the jollity of the occasion.

Twenty-two Converts in Revival Held Under Oak Tree

Twenty-two people were converted in a meeting which closed last night on the South Third street road about three miles from Waco.

On June 18 Rev. D. A. McGuire of Clay Street Methodist church, with one of his members, Mr. Anders, organized a Sunday school in C. M. Mack's yard under an old oak tree. The people there decided to have a meeting so they asked Rev. B. H. Blas to hold the meeting for them. Rev. Blas got Rev. W. H. Cole to help him. Thursday night sixteen were converted and at Saturday night and Sunday services six more professed religion. This number was nearly forty per cent of the average attendance.

Seven Professions of Faith at Clay Street Baptist

Seven professions of faith were made at the morning service of the Clay Street Baptist church yesterday and a day of religious zeal marked the church. It was reported last night. All services were well attended.

Evening services of the church will be held in the open at Fifteenth and Burnett streets, one block from the church, until the summer heat is over.

DEATH VALLEY DODGE FILM SHOWING TODAY

An auto that stood a terrific test will be depicted by film this afternoon at night at the Hippodrome theatre as a courtesy jointly from the Central Motor Car company and the management of the theatre. It is the story told in pictures of the Dodge car making its perilous trip across Death Valley—a feat that has never been equalled. The film shows the apparently indestructible car ploughing through the miles and miles of white sand dust shifted in long stretches of dunes.

It is a story of God's untamed country and the tale of a great motor car that has never been equalled. The film will be shown in addition to an appealing film program at no extra cost.

Endeavor Service Proves Pleasing

The service in charge of the Christian Endeavorers at the Second Presbyterian church last night was an exceptionally good one, those present declared. Some interesting talks were made on the subject, "How Missions are Blessing Our Nation."

An enjoyable feature was a duet by Earle Grogan and Miss Mattie Sue McCellan. The program was in charge of Miss Reba Thompson.

A good attendance marked the service. The eagerness and willingness of the older folks to participate in the service was very encouraging, the younger Endeavorers insisted.

CHILD LABOR BILL DISTURBS PEACE OF CONGRESSMEN

Washington, July 30.—President Wilson having won his fight for action before adjournment of congress on the bill to prevent interstate commerce in the products of child labor, the senate will take up the measure this week with an interesting struggle over it in prospect.

Passage of the bill is a foregone conclusion, but it will be opposed stubbornly by a group of Southern democratic senators and an attempt will be made by Senator Borah, aided by Southern democrats, to couple with it the immigration bill which the democratic caucus determined to put over until next session. Should the attempt succeed to load the child labor bill with the immigration rider, many of its champions fear its passage will be followed by a presidential veto because of the restrictive literacy test on aliens. As it passed the house, the measure provides:

That no producer, manufacturer or dealer shall ship or deliver for shipment in interstate or foreign commerce the product of any mine or quarry in the United States in which thirty days prior to the removal of such product therefrom, children under 16 years of age have been employed; or the product of any mill, cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment in which thirty days prior to removal of such product therefrom, children under 14 and 16 have been employed more than eight hours a day, more than six days a week or before 6 a. m. or after 7 p. m.

Only a few cars were operated in Broadway above Forty-second street and traffic was intermittent on several cross-town lines.

Last year the committee secured positions for 432 persons. The combined salaries running up into hundreds of thousands of dollars. This service is done without charge, except for a nominal registration fee for incidental expenses.

valley, along Lake Michigan and in the upper lake region; and a shading down in temperatures already has resulted from thunderstorms in the West Plains states and on the eastern slope of the Rockies. Meantime, the high temperature area has extended into the middle and South Atlantic sections and has advanced in the far west to the Pacific coast. New England and the middle Atlantic seaboard, where it has been cooler for a day or two, will be warmer again tomorrow.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 30.—Escanaba, Mich., with 100, and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., with 98, reported new local temperature records today. Deaths attributed to the heat during the four days hot wave up to midnight totaled 264. Approximately 400 prostrations were reported. KILLS HUSBAND THEN FIRES SHOT THROUGH OWN BRAIN

Lawton, Okla., July 30.—Mrs. Irene Yoeman about 6 o'clock this morning shot and killed her husband, J. W. Yoeman, as he slept in bed, and then fired a shot through her own brain. Neighbors, hearing the shots fired from a revolver, hurried to the Yoeman home and found the man dead and his wife dying. Mrs. Yoeman is said to have been in ill health for some time, and officers believe her mind became temporarily deranged.

Yoeman was state manager of a Kansas City, Mo., investment company in both Texas and Oklahoma, and he and his wife were pioneers in this section.

been blown hundreds of feet over land and water. Most of the sixty or more injured taken to Jersey City hospitals were struck by shrapnel, falling glass or other debris. Nearly all were in the railroad yards or on craft moored near the island, included among them are a few women and children whose homes were on barges.

Every window in the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty on Bludsoe's island, opposite Black Tom, was broken and the main floor, made of iron and weighing almost a ton, was blown off its hinges. The statue itself, however, was not damaged except from the rain of shrapnel which beset it. Although the plant which furnished power for Bludsoe's island was shaken and partly put out of commission, the famous "Light of Liberty" burned steadily throughout the hours of confusion.

ELLIS ISLAND SUFFERS DAMAGE.

Early reports of damage to the buildings on Ellis Island were exaggerated, according to Capt. A. B. Fry, supervising engineer of federal buildings in New York. Captain Fry said the loss could not exceed $50,000.

Most of the damage to the immigration station was in wrecked walks and doorways. Two barges, ablaze and laden with shrapnel shells, drifted to the island. An explosion on one of the barges damaged the structure housing the power plant.

450 IMMIGRANTS ARE REMOVED.

Two other fire-swept craft grounded on the southwest corner of the island, which contains the contagious disease hospital. The medical staff removed 450 immigrants on the island to the Battery.

Many small craft as well as several good-sized steamers and sailing vessels were badly damaged. Crews on the big ocean liners anchored in the harbor or docked along the New Jersey shore were ordered to evacuate the island when the first two great explosions occurred it appeared as if their vessels were literally picked up out of the water and then hurled back.

All New York city within a radius of twenty-five miles were awakened by the explosions. Within an hour 6,000 telephone calls went over the police wire from excited inquirers. Hundreds of thousands of persons, many of them scantily clad, ran excitedly through the streets, while automobiles containing policemen, firemen and others dashed along. Detectives were rushed to Maiden Lane, the home of the jewelry industry to guard against thieves.

In the downtown section countless windows were broken. Scarcely an office building from the Battery to Fifth street escaped damage.

More than a score of persons, according to the police, were injured in Manhattan and Brooklyn by flying glass. Thousands of persons in Jersey City fled to the parks after the first explosion. Panic-stricken women wheeled baby carriages about, some of them praying and others screaming.

FIRES STILL RAGING TONIGHT.

The fire on Black Tom island still rages tonight. The large railroad yards of the Lehigh Valley and the reclaimed meadow lands for miles around virtually were under attack by great piles of wreckage and countless shrapnel shells, many of which had not exploded.

C. W. Leyden, chief of the Lehigh Valley railroad, said that while adding an engine crew in attempting to save a number of freight cars from the fire.

A quantity of dynamite exploded near where he was standing and it was blown his body to atoms. The members of the crew escaped with lacerations and burns.

Mrs. Freda Wilson, wife of a barge captain, and her two small children are missing, and it is feared they perished in the fire.

Shocks Felt in Maryland. Baltimore, July 30.—Telephone inquiries were made here this morning from towns in the northern and eastern sections of Maryland as to the cause of earth shocks felt in those places. It was thought there had been an explosion on the eastern peninsula.

Not Official Investigation.

Washington, July 30.—No special investigation of the explosion in New York bay will be undertaken by the department of justice unless evidence is developed that it was a plot aimed at the destruction of munitions of war. A. B. Bissell, chief of the bureau of investigation, received notice from New York today that so far no facts had been developed to show that the explosion was the result of a plot.

NEW YORK NATIONAL GUARDSMEN MAY VOTE

based, the government of the United States is constrained to regard that practice as inconsistent with that true justice, sincere amity and impartial fairness which should characterize the dealings of friendly governments with one another. The spirit of reciprocal trade between the United States and Great Britain, the privilege long accorded to the nations of each to come and go with their ships and cargoes, to use each other's shipping and be served each by the other's merchants is very seriously impaired by arbitrary and sweeping practices such as this.

SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES MAY FOLLOW.

"There is no purpose or inclination on the part of the government of the United States to shield American citizens or business houses in any way from the legitimate consequences of their unneutral acts or practices. It is quite willing that they should suffer the appropriate penalties which international law and the usage of nations have sanctioned; but his Britannic majesty's government cannot expect the government of the United States to consent to see its citizens put on an ex parte blacklist without calling the attention of his majesty's government, in the gravest terms, to the many serious consequences to neutral right and neutral relations which such an act must necessarily involve. It hopes and believes that his majesty's government in its natural absorption in a single pressing object, policy has acted without a full realization of the many undesired and undesirable results that might ensue."

English Papers Publish Note.

London, July 31.—(4:27 a. m.)—The morning newspapers, with only two exceptions, today publish the American note of protest against the British blacklist without comment. The Times adds a brief Washington dispatch, characterizing the protest as a "political maneuver designed to elicit a British disavowal which will be proclaimed as a great triumph for President Wilson's administration."

The Daily Chronicle in a brief editorial says: "The war which we have inevitably caused ourselves inconvenience such as those dealt upon in the American government's latest and rather unfriendly note. We would ask them to remember that after all we are fighting not only our own battle but the whole world's battle."

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

YEARS of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result is the practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. John W. Derrick, of Lexington, S. C., says: "My children cry for Castoria, I could not do without it."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaines, of Ripley, Tenn., say: "We enclose our baby's picture hoping it will induce some poor tired mothers to give your Castoria a trial. We have used it since baby was two weeks old."

Mrs. J. G. Parman, of Nashville, Tenn., says: "The perfect health of my baby is due to your Castoria—the first and only medicine he has taken. He is never satisfied with one dose, he always cries for more."

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Johnson, of Stevens Point, Wis., say: "When our baby was two weeks old he cried so much we did everything for him, then got some Castoria and he is now strong and fat. We would not be without it, and are very thankful to you."

Police Raid-- Get 21 Negroes, 3 Kegs of Beer

The police net closed in a negro rendezvous near Fifteenth and Mary streets yesterday afternoon and the result was a "wet" drag which lacked considerable of being a "water haul." Three beer kegs of the fourteen-gallon capacity were captured and twenty-one negro men. The phony who escaped just previous to the melee was not enumerated.

The occasion of the police raid, led by Chief McNamara and Officers Craven, Brandon and Tonahill, was a Sunday day the convalescence of the negroes with the foaming liquid as the inspiration.

Four installments of the hoodlum transportation facilities of the department were necessary to get the captured negroes to the city jail.

Officers making the raid declared that they encountered two distinct types of the negroes. One variety of the celebratory when the police appeared acted like a covey of partridges when aroused by a snake, and the other type played the "innocent" game.

Some of the offenders seemed to be horror-stricken when the beer kegs were rolled out of the two-room shack which was too small to accommodate the Sunday crowd.

"Why, sir, boss, I war jes' drapping by to look arter my sater."

"I declare to de Lawd, Mister Officer, I war looking for my wife down de street and jes' appened up a minute ago."

Another negro thought his friend was among the crowd and just came over to inquire—absolutely innocent of any booze being in the neighborhood.

One of the officers insisted that the way the negroes were congregated around the cabin reminded him of a bunch of crows settled on a country fence. The negroes were charged with disturbing the peace and their cases will come up before the city court this morning.

Chief McNamara announced yesterday that this class of "Sunday celebration" will be stopped. The force will clamp the lid tight on Sunday drinking and carousal in all parts of Waco, he declared.

Austin Ave. Baraca Class Will Be Host to Working Boys' S. S.

One hundred and fifty members of the Working Boys' Sunday school class will receive tickets of admittance to the second annual watermelon cutting to be given by the Baraca class of the Austin Avenue Methodist church next Friday evening. Autos for carrying the boys to the park will also be furnished by the Baracas.

The cutting last year was a great affair for the boys and they are looking forward with keen pleasure to next Friday's festival, their leader declares. Games and other amusements will add to the jollity of the occasion.

Twenty-two Converts in Revival Held Under Oak Tree

Twenty-two people were converted in a meeting which closed last night on the South Third street road about three miles from Waco.

On June 18 Rev. D. A. McGuire of Clay Street Methodist church, with one of his members, Mr. Anderson, organized a Sunday school in C. M. Mack's yard under an old oak tree. The people there decided to have a meeting so they asked Rev. B. B. Bus to hold the meeting for them. Rev. Mr. Blas got Rev. W. H. Cole to help him. Thursday night sixteen were converted and at Saturday night and Sunday services six more professed religion. This number was nearly forty per cent of the average attendance. Yesterday morning the Sunday school had forty-two present and the school commenced with only ten or twelve.

Temple Boosters
Trip August 8

Temple, July 30.—After two or three regrettable postponements, occasioned by the fact that the railroads were unable to furnish equipment, the Young Men's Business League's Big Figure Eight trade trip will be staged on Tuesday, August 8. It is noticed that the number "8" figures quite prominently in the trip. The eighth day of the eighth month, and the trip takes the geographical form of the figure eight, as explained in our previous communication. In addition to all these eights, the trippers will distribute coupons good for eight cents rebate in nearly all of Temple's stores to apply on a dollar cash purchase.

There is no question about it, rain or shine, win, lose or draw, the trip will be made on the date above named. Fully two hundred live boosters will visit your good store on that day. This trip, in addition to other things, is especially intended to boost the Bell county fair, to be held at Midway, between Belton and Temple, October 2 to 7, inclusive. A very successful fair was held here last year and our citizens are combining their efforts this year towards making it one of the best county fairs in the state.

PARALYSIS "CURE" VENDORS
ARE TO BE INVESTIGATED

Department of Agriculture Gives Special Instructions to Food and Drugs Inspectors.

Washington, July 30.—Officials of the department of agriculture charged with the enforcement of the food and drugs act expect that the outbreak of infantile paralysis will tempt unscrupulous persons to offer for sale so-called "cures" or remedies for this dread malady. They, therefore, have issued special instructions to the food and drugs inspectors to be particularly alert for interstate shipments or importations of medicines, the makers of which allege that they will cure or alleviate this disease, for which, at the present time, no medicinal cure is known. The officials also warn the public that any preparation for the treatment of infantile paralysis should be looked upon with extreme suspicion. Inspectors, accordingly, have been instructed to regard as suspicious the public that any preparation for the treatment of infantile paralysis should be looked upon with extreme suspicion. Inspectors, accordingly, have been instructed to regard as suspicious the public that any preparation for the treatment of infantile paralysis should be looked upon with extreme suspicion. Inspectors, accordingly, have been instructed to regard as suspicious the public that any preparation for the treatment of infantile paralysis should be looked upon with extreme suspicion.

The food and drugs officials are particularly watchful in this instance because it has been noted in the past that whenever a serious epidemic exists, unscrupulous dealers prey upon the fear or ignorance of the public by flooding the market with worthless, hastily prepared concoctions, for which they assert curative properties which have no foundation whatever in fact. In the present instance inspectors already have discovered shipments of a few such mixtures.

The department will do everything it can under federal law to protect that portion of the public which is extremely credulous in times of panic and which will grasp at anything that promises protection or relief. The sale of such products at this time, the officials point out, is particularly threatening to the public health because many persons, relying on the false statements of impostors, neglect to secure competent medical advice. As a result, not only is the safety of the patient endangered, but in the absence of proper sanitary precautions the likelihood of contagion is greatly increased. It must be understood, however, that the federal food and drugs act applies only to products which are shipped in interstate commerce, that is, from one state to another, or which are offered for import or export, or which are manufactured or sold within a territory or the District of Columbia. Products which are made and consumed wholly within a single state are subject only to such state laws as may apply and are under the control only of state health officials. The federal law does not apply, for instance, to patent medicines made in the state of New York and sold in New York City. Persons buying or using a "remedy" made in their own state, therefore, must rely on the protection accorded them by their local health authorities.

Japan Wants Better
Relations With U. S.

Tokio, July 30.—At the instance of the Japan Peace society, of which Count Okuma, the prime minister, is the president, a new movement for promotion of friendly relations between Japan and the United States has been started by the formation of an association named the American-Japanese relations committee. The committee consists of leading publicists, scholars, statesmen, financiers and others interested in the United States and promises to devote itself to strengthening and perpetuating the cordial and friendly relations between the two countries and to labor for a friendly settlement of any disputes that may arise.

In furthering its purposes the committee says it will co-operate with the association organized some time ago by American publicists, business men and others in San Francisco which has an object similar to the new organization.

Hot Campaigns
Almost Closed
in Missouri

St. Louis, Mo., July 30.—One of the most hotly contested primary campaigns in the history of Missouri is practically closed with the rival leaders in both republican and democratic parties predicting victory for their favorites. In both parties nominations will be made by direct vote Tuesday for a long list of state offices, for United States senator, for congressional candidates, for judges of the three courts of appeals, each of which has appellate jurisdiction over part of the state, for members of the state legislature, and for local offices in each county.

James A. Reed, present United States senator from Missouri, is a candidate for re-election at the democratic primary. He is opposed by L. A. Martin of Chillicothe, Mo.

Three men are in the race for the republican senatorial nomination. They are Thomas J. Akins, St. Louis, who was the republican candidate for senator two years ago; Nathan Frank, St. Louis, and Walter S. Dickey, Kansas City.

Nominations are to be made for senator in half the state senatorial districts, and for representative in every legislative district. The Anti-Saloon league has conducted an aggressive campaign to secure the nomination of men who will vote for a prohibitory law with a "peace, health and safety clause" attached. The object of such a clause is to prevent the submission of the law to a referendum.

Progressive candidates for many offices filed before the progressive national convention was held. As a result of the declaration on the part of Colonel Roosevelt of the progressive nomination for president, many of the progressive candidates in Missouri withdrew from being certified by the secretary of state to the various county clerks. Joseph P. Fontron of Kansas City, candidate for the progressive nomination for governor, did not withdraw.

PARALYSIS "CURE" VENDORS
ARE TO BE INVESTIGATED

Department of Agriculture Gives Special Instructions to Food and Drugs Inspectors.

Washington, July 30.—Officials of the department of agriculture charged with the enforcement of the food and drugs act expect that the outbreak of infantile paralysis will tempt unscrupulous persons to offer for sale so-called "cures" or remedies for this dread malady. They, therefore, have issued special instructions to the food and drugs inspectors to be particularly alert for interstate shipments or importations of medicines, the makers of which allege that they will cure or alleviate this disease, for which, at the present time, no medicinal cure is known. The officials also warn the public that any preparation for the treatment of infantile paralysis should be looked upon with extreme suspicion. Inspectors, accordingly, have been instructed to regard as suspicious and to collect samples of all medicines in interstate commerce for which such claims are made. Makers of such fraudulent remedies will be vigorously prosecuted whenever the evidence warrants action under the Sherman amendment to the food and drugs act. So-called remedies for infantile paralysis which are offered for import into the country will be denied entry.

The food and drugs officials are particularly watchful in this instance because it has been noted in the past that whenever a serious epidemic exists, unscrupulous dealers prey upon the fear or ignorance of the public by flooding the market with worthless, hastily prepared concoctions for which they assert curative properties which have no foundation whatever in fact. In the present instance inspectors already have discovered shipments of a few such mixtures.

Temple Boosters Start "Figure 8" Trip August 8

Temple, July 30.—After two or three regrettable postponements, occasioned by the fact that the railroads were unable to furnish equipment, the Young Men's Business league's Big Figure Eight trade trip will be staged on Tuesday, August 8. It is noticed that the number "8" figures quite prominently in the trip. The eighth day of the eighth month, and the trip takes the geographical form of the figure eight, as explained in our previous communication. In addition to all these eight, the trippers will distribute coupons good for eight cents rebate in nearly all of Temple's stores to apply on a dollar cash purchase.

There is no question about it, rain or shine, win, lose or draw, the trip will be made on the date above named. Fully two hundred live boosters will visit your good city on that day. The trip, in addition to other things, is especially intended to boost the Bell county fair, to be held at Midway, between Belton and Temple, October 2 to 7, inclusive. A very successful fair was held here last year and our citizens are combining their efforts this year towards making it one of the best county fairs in the state.

University Loses Two Prexies.

Austin, July 30.—The University of Texas has lost by resignation this week two of its most efficient instructors, Dr. Carr Thomas Dowell and Dr. W. S. Hunter. Dr. Dowell has resigned to become associate professor of chemistry in Tulane university, and Dr. Hunter leaves the University of Texas to accept the position of professor of psychology in the University of Kansas. Each will receive a much better salary than the university was paying them, or could afford to pay them under the present budget, and each receives distinct promotion in rank. Their departure from the university is universally regretted. They were among the most successful instructors in the institution.

Beginning with next summer the summer school of the University of Texas will last eleven weeks, the university thus remaining open throughout the entire year, with the exception of the month of September. It is thought by some of the officials of the university that the attendance for the 1917 term will not fall far short of 2,000 students.

Texas Supplies Many Teachers.

Austin, July 30.—It has been estimated that more than 4,000 of the 21,000 teachers in Texas have been students at the University of Texas. HOW LONG WILL TEXAS STAND FOR THIS?

These returns speak for themselves, and tell a tale that should bring a blush to the cheek of every citizen of Texas:

	For	Against
Duval	2	883
Starr	439
Webb	19	471
Totals	460	1,354

In Duval, all candidates who received any votes got exactly 883.

How long will the people of Texas stand for such a shameless and brazen system of Mexicanization of a ballot that may decide pollsters and candidates for the state of Texas in a close contest? The attorney general should give this his attention.

The timeliness of one plank in the platform adopted by the democratic convention of Mexican county is emphasized by this proceeding in Duval. That plank reads as follows:

"The right of suffrage is the most valuable asset of citizenship, and any invasion of that right strikes at the foundation of our institutions. The marshalling of votes by the use of improper agencies, and the control of elections by invisible power are evils which a people jealous of their liberties ought not to tolerate. We declare that it is of first importance to free the ballot from all sinister and selfish influence, and to restore equality of citizenship by making it impossible for any man to either buy or command another's vote."

The federal authorities found a way to put an end to election frauds upon the Mexican border which involve congressional elections. Is the state powerless?

IN 1906 AND 1916.

Colquitt's claim that he is entitled to the nomination for the senate because he received a plurality of the vote is typical of his career, which has never regarded consistency as a virtue. In his "dying swan" speech before the democratic state convention in which Campbell was nominated for governor he said:

"I have said that I advocated a law which would have required the submission of the names of Thomas M. Campbell and Micajah M. Brooks to a second democratic primary in this state. I stand for that today, fellow citizens, even though it encompasses my aspirations and carries me down in defeat. I want no public office, I do not desire to occupy any public station, under the protests of an overwhelming expression of the people."

If it be true that he does not desire office "over the protests of an overwhelming expression of the people," the voice of the coming primary will be sufficient to extinguish even his insatiable appetite.

Cactus, boiled, fried and baked, is a common eatable in Mexico as a result of famine, and hunger diseases have added their ravages to the woes of that unfortunate country. Unless Carranza is a hopeless idiot, he will embrace the opportunity for pacification afforded by our proposal that the joint commission to be created shall consider all questions relating to his country, internal as well as external.

The Bohemians of Texas, through their state fraternal organization in session at Galveston, strongly indorsed the foreign policies of the president. The hope of Colquitt that he will round up all voters of this nationality, and their descendants, through antagonism of the president, goes glimmering. It is the scheme of Oscar Colquitt to get foreign votes that is defective.

Submission's victory is conceded, and the only question to be decided is, when will the prohibition amendment be submitted? It has been assumed that the legislature will submit it next year, but this does not necessarily follow. The question is one for serious consideration, and the matured judgment of recognized leaders of the prohibition cause should control.

Villa seems to be fast declining from a revolutionary leader of the first class to a cow thief of the third class. One is a patriot and the other a pariah.

Two thousand is a rather small lead for submission, but with the Mexican vote eliminated it would be several thousand greater.

If Houston wants another state convention, she should see to it that no San Antonio waltzes are played during the one to be held there next week.

TEXAS BORN AND EDUCATED BOYS TAKE HIGH PLACES

Austin, July 30.—A few years ago two country boys, one from Lone Oak, Hunt county, and one from Saginaw, Tarrant county, entered the University of Texas and doing special work, each in his chosen line of work, one of these young men went to the University of Chicago and was given the highest degree in collegiate circles, doctor of philosophy. The second young man went to the University of California and received the same degree. The University of Texas then called them back to teach. Last week Dr. Carr Thomas Dowell, the boy from Lone Oak, was called to the professorship of chemistry at Tulane university, New Orleans, and Dr. W. S. Hunter, the young man from Saginaw, was elected to the professorship of psychology in the University of Kansas.

It is a credit to Texas that its own home-raised and home-educated products are being called to other states to contribute their share to the education of the people. It may be a matter of some surprise that former students of the University of Texas, and Texas reared and educated boys and girls are now teaching in many of the leading universities of the nation, including Harvard, Princeton, University of Pennsylvania, University of California, University of Chicago, Bryn Mawr college, Amherst college, University of Washington, University of Toronto, University of Virginia, Western Reserve university, Leland Stanford university, University of Wisconsin, University of Michigan, Boston university and the University of Maine.

First Bale at Brenham.

Brenham, July 30.—The first bale of the 1916 cotton crop to be brought to Brenham was given by Zeiss Brothers, Tuesday. Leo Koychinski, farmer, of the old Zeiss place, two miles from town, raised and picked the cotton, which was ginned free by Zeiss Brothers. Schmidt Brothers purchased the cotton for 12-1/2 cents the cotton being classed as strict middling.

This is the third bale of cotton to be ginned this year, the first being ginned at Chapel Hill, the second at Phillipsburg.

The Brenham oil mill gave the grower a premium of $2.50 for the first bale of seed brought in from this year's crop.

HAD HORRORS OF CHARITY.

Mother of New York Guardsmen Preferred to Face Starvation.
(New York Tribune.)

A New York guardian at the border wrote the active service auxiliary that he would be tempted to desert unless he could see his mother. The mother was one of two brothers who supported their mother and two younger children. The mother was struggling to keep a home for the two little ones. The bare cupboard shelves were mute evidence of the mother's distress.

In the cellar the visitor found the two children, a boy of 5 and a girl of 13. The last had fallen down stairs and hurt herself and her sister was taking care of him. "I don't know where mother is," the girl said. She goes out early every morning and doesn't come back until 12 or 1 o'clock at night. She is selling newspapers until the regiment comes back.

Then, simply, childishly, but with a mother's understanding, she helped her mother was facing, she told how each day their food had grown less in quantity, how milk had become a great luxury, how little they could make at selling papers, and how she and her brother had to walk twenty blocks every day to get a bit to eat at the home of an aunt.

"Yes, mother had heard of the place at the armory, where they helped soldiers' families," she said, "but she didn't want to go there. She didn't want to ask for charity."

The investigator left word with the janitor for the mother to call at the headquarters of the auxiliary. When she arrived there it was explained to her that the work of the organization was not charity, and that she was entitled to its assistance, while her older sons were with the colors. She had only $5 and she had not known what was to become of it, and of the boy and girl whom she had been working so hard to keep a home.

MUSSELS MAY RIVAL OYSTERS.

An Abundant and Long Neglected Sea Food Becoming Popular.
(Hugl M. Smith in the National Geographic Magazine.)

A noteworthy case of neglect, followed by appreciation and utilization, is that of the mussel, one of the best and most abundant of marine foods. Hundreds of millions of pounds are eaten annually in Western Europe. In the United States practically the only use made of them has been for fertilizer and bait.

In 1914 an advantageous opportunity was presented for introducing the mollusk in one of the leading Boston hotels, and through the assistance of the hotel, the experiment was made so much attention that within a few months mussels were, for the first time, being served at regular banquets. The menu of more than seventy of the principal hotels, clubs and restaurants of Boston included the oyster.

The demand naturally spread to private houses and to adjacent communities, with the result that the mussel has become a regular commodity of the region, to the benefit of consumer, dealer and fisherman; and the knowledge of the food value of the mussel has gradually extended to other cities, and its regular consumption over a wide area, both adjacent and remote from the seaboard, is assured.

That a very extensive mussel fishery will be developed on our Atlantic and Pacific coasts is inevitable. Mussels occur in vast beds as yet untouched and easily reached by tongs and dredges. They are as nutritious as oysters and clams, and their shells being thinner, a given quantity contains more actual food than does the bulk of oyster.

A further advantage is that they are in season at all times and are at their best on the New England and Middle Atlantic coasts where the oyster supply in the markets are most reduced; namely, in summer.

Fight Against Boll Weevil.

Nacogdoches, July 30.—The citizens' committee of business men to receive and destroy the cotton squares brought in by farmers on each Saturday put 2,450,882 cotton squares to the flames Saturday in the afternoon. The committee got at the number by weighing up a pound of the squares, and counting them, and made the calculation on that basis, allowing 20 eggs of the boll weevil to the square, 49,017,640 eggs were destroyed.

FARMERS' CHIMNEY CORNER

Agricultural Situation of World Greatly Benefited by Results of World War

Rome, July 30.—Vast and beneficial changes in the world's agricultural situation are impending as a result of the war affecting the welfare of every farmer and the entire population of the earth is the opinion expressed to the Associated Press by Marquis R. Capelli, president of the International Institute of Agriculture. He also declared that there could be, for the present, no food famine in Europe or elsewhere.

"People in cities who never gave a thought to food or its price have everywhere been compelled to consider how to get food at reasonable prices. Those who have not felt the pinch of such prices, because of their wealth or their remoteness from Europe can only, in some measure, understand what this precious food means when told how in Belgium many have risked their lives and lost their lives right on the firing line in the endeavor to force from their land this indispensable product."

"Is there a romance more thrilling than their struggle of peaceful labor amid the crashing of bomb and shell?"

FOOD SUPPLY MOST AGONIZING QUESTION.

"One of the most agonizing questions among all those which the light of this cataclysm has brought into such strong relief is that of the future of the food supply for the masses."

"The record wages earned, the call to arms in every belligerent country, absorbing all the strength and youth of the nations, together with the mobilization in some neutral lands, the destruction in close proximity to invasion, might not all these things prove to be warnings that the grain crops may possibly fall short, and that famine may make its appearance sooner or later?"

"This institute in Rome has, I may say, material at hand enabling it to consider all these grave questions in a partially, seeing that it is an international institution founded and supported by the governments of every civilized country in the world. Personal interest and impending contingencies do not interfere with these inquiries, and they are available for all eyes, for the well being of the whole world."

"In place of watching an unlimited advance in prices brought about by unscrupulous traders and speculators, culminating in the approach of the spectre of famine, as in former days, the institute has definitely ascertained that in last season's grain crops throughout the world were decidedly greater than the normal harvest, and that the nations can rest assured of at least a sufficiency for the present."

Nevertheless, having not the coming crops a less promising outlook, on account of the drawbacks, which are so real, already enumerated, the institute's bulletin of the institute demonstrating by convincing figures that, even if the approaching harvest should not prove so abundant as the previous ones, the prospect is a better one than that of the average during the preceding five years.

WHY BREAD PRICES ARE SO HIGH.

"But it will be at once demanded from me: 'Why then these unheard of prices of bread in Europe, and why these government measures in France and Italy with the object of reducing imports, by utilizing the production of flour more closely?'"

"In Italy, for instance, it is a fact that the present law requires millers to obtain eighty-five kilos of flour from 100 kilos of wheat, in place of only seventy kilos as usual, a change which renders the flour less white and attractive to the eye but probably does not interfere with its nutritive qualities."

"This sharp rise of grain prices in consuming markets is the consequence of the immense enhancement in the cost of carriage from export to import countries. I will take just one example. The rate of freight for a ton of grain from Buenos Aires to Genoa, Italy, was in June, 1914, 9.98 francs, while a few weeks ago the rate was 245 francs or short of the export to import countries."

"Every man interested in agricultural matters has become anxious as to the serious drawbacks caused by these enormous fluctuations in ocean freights, and at the initiative of David Lubin, the United States congress has adopted resolutions requesting this institute in Rome to study the matter in all its bearings and to invite the governments of every country to participate in an international conference with the view of making suggestions on the stabilizing of ocean freights."

FREIGHT QUESTION OF GREAT IMPORT.

"This world-wide war has invested the freight question with paramount importance, and it must have results for agriculture quite as far-reaching as those looked for in other directions."

"I should like to say that, in my opinion, and from a national point of view, among the ultimate results of this war will be the increasing interest taken by governments in the development of agricultural wealth, namely by the encouragement of co-operation and intelligence bureaus."

"So may this vital national industry be built up at last, on its legitimate foundation, on a really scientific basis. 'From the international point of view I feel convinced that the institute in Rome, already embodying the principle of international co-operation, will in the future obtain from governments such measures as will definitely stabilize the price of bread, the enforcement of regulations against adulterations of foods and seeds, the international protection of birds useful to agriculture, and in many other ways the road will be open for the institute to assist in the development of agriculture."

"All will lead definitely to moderate prices for the citizen and to the benefit of the agriculturist. The general adoption of such measures means economic progress and social welfare, the shortening of the land of this earth so that all may live better."

High Price of Sugar No Bar to Canning Fruit

Washington, July 30.—Fruit for use in pie or salads or as stewed fruit can be put up or canned without the use of any sugar at all, according to the canning specialists of the department. They, therefore, advise those who desire to use fruit for canning, that the cause of the high price of sugar, have been thinking of reducing the amount of fruit they put up, to can as much of their surplus as possible by the use of boiling water when sugar syrup is beyond their means. Any fruit, they say, may be successfully sterilized and retained in the pack by simply adding boiling water instead of the hot syrup.

The use of sugar, of course, is desirable in the canning of all kinds of fruits and makes a better and ready sweetened product. Moreover, most of the fruits when canned in water alone do not retain their natural flavor, texture and color as well as fruit put up in syrup. Fruit canned without sugar to be used for sauces or desserts must be sweetened.

DIRECTIONS FOR CANNING FRUITS WITHOUT SYRUP.
Can the product the same day it is picked. Cut, stem or seed, and clean the fruit by placing it in a strainer and pouring water over it until it is clean. Pack the product thoroughly in glass jars or tin cans until they are full; use the handle of a tablespoon, wooden ladle, or table knife for packing. Pour over the fruit boiling water from a kettle, place rubbers and caps in position, partially seal if using glass jars, seal completely if using tin cans. Place the containers in a sterilizing water bath. Boil for ten minutes, or until the water is at a rolling boil with false bottom, or other receptacle improvised for the purpose. If using a hot water bath outfit, process for thirty minutes; count time after the water has reached the boiling point; the water must cover the highest jar in container. After sterilizing jars, remove glass jars, wrap in paper to prevent bleaching and store in a dry, cool place.

If you are canning in tin cans it will improve the product to plunge the cans quickly into cold water immediately after sterilization. When using a steam pressure canner instead of the hot water bath, sterilize for ten minutes with five pounds of steam pressure. Never allow the pressure to go over ten pounds.

First Bale at Taylor.

Taylor, July 30.—The first bale of cotton marketed in Williamson county of the 1916 crop reached Taylor late Monday afternoon and the second bale arrived shortly afterward. Henry Roos gets the honors for the first bale raised on his farm in the Beversville community, southeast of Taylor. The second bale was raised in the same neighborhood on the J. Melasky estate farm and was marketed by Frank Savoda and Frank Giegel. This year's first bale is several days earlier than usual, the early days of August generally marking the receipt of the first bale.

First at Coupland.

Coupland, July 30.—The first bale of cotton was brought into Coupland on July 24. It was raised by Carl Becker. The cotton classed strict middling. The bale was sold to the Coupland Mercantile company at 14 cents a pound. Besides this, Mr. Becker received a premium of $18 from the business people of Coupland.

Not Too Late for Goobers.

We take it that you planted some peanuts this spring. Even yet you may plant some, but they should be well along in cultivation now. Perhaps you planted a considerable acreage, to harvest and sell to the mills. If so, you will find that even with the best of handling a considerable quantity will be left in or on the ground. Have you pigs to harvest these? Otherwise it is a sheer waste of what may be easily converted into a good revenue. Perhaps you planted only a small lot. In this case you undoubtedly had in mind the pigs you want to use to harvest them. Right here let us emphasize what we said in the April number, the best way to market peanuts is to have plenty of hogs to feed them to and thus convert them into the manufactured product, about which there is no uncertainty of market, and for which there is always a good price.—Southland Farmer.

Road Work at Bryan.

Bryan, Texas, July 30.—The work of grading the road between Bryan and the A. & M. college has been completed and the work of paving same will begin at once. The paving will be done by the Uvalde Rock Island Asphalt company and will be equal to the best city streets. The company has received three carloads of new paving machinery with which the paving will be done. The machinery came direct from the factory.

Lamb County Ships Many Fat Hogs

Littlefield, Texas, July 30.—Four carloads of Lamb county fat hogs were shipped from here to the Fort Worth markets yesterday.

Stockmen all over this section have experienced serious trouble recently on account of shortage of water. The wind failed to blow sufficiently to turn the windmills. It was necessary to employ small gasoline engines to pump the water and the supply of small engines was soon exhausted. Many were brought in by express. Old residents here state they have never seen similar conditions.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE PREMIUM LIST ARRANGED

President H. M. Weir of the Williamson County Farmers' Institute, assisted by Messrs. Geo. N. McDaniel and J. F. Yearwood, has arranged premiums for the annual meeting which will be held with the Old Settlers' association August 4 and 5. The list is as follows:

A lady lecturer from A. and M. college will deliver lectures and demonstrate during the institute on the following subjects: Canning, household conveniences, bread making, jelly making, butter making and poultry.

TEXAS GOOD ROADS CONGRESS WILL PULL GEAT CROWD

Not a newspaper is printed these days in Texas but that you find something about roads—good roads being planned here and good roads being constructed there. It's in the air, it's in the mind, it's in the hands—the inspiration to have the best highways in the world. And to further this cause, and that successfully, it is necessary that there be thorough organization—national organization, state organization, county organization and community organization—that's why the necessity of that most successful of all—the Texas Good Roads association—the same that plans the grand good roads congress to be held at Medina lake, San Antonio, on August 17, 18 and 19.

Have you ever been to a good roads convention in Texas? If you have not, you have missed one of the greatest events going. Never been to a meeting where there was so much unanimity of purpose, overwhelming desire to do something for the community good, and never before have we met so many men of big ideas as at the Texas good roads convention. It has been that way in the past, and it was that way at the last meeting at Taylor, and it's going to be that way at Medina lake on August 17, 18 and 19. Write D. E. Colp, San Antonio, for particulars.—Texas Good Roads Association.

AN EXAMPLE OF THRIFT.

Uses Cast-off Bicycle Tires to Cover Trace Chains.

Thrift is the German farmer's middle name, it is often asserted. An example of this characteristic has been noticed on the public square, where the farmers line their wagons and teams up for the sale of produce. A pair of old rubber bicycle tires which had served their period of usefulness on a "bike" has been cut and slipped over the trace chains. This gave protection and comfort to the animals and served the purpose of an expensive leather covering which is often sewed over the chains.

SUDAN GRASS GOOD FOR WARM CLIMATE

There is no doubt but Sudan grass is the quickest forage or hay crop as well as the greatest producer of first-class hay now in cultivation, hence it is best for cover crops or late planting. It is also one of the greatest drouth resisters and seems to thrive best in hot, dry weather. It will produce a crop ready for harvest in forty days from time of planting, then succeeding crops every thirty days until frost.

Sudan grass is a most valuable crop to plant after wheat or oats after the grain has been harvested. It may be planted here in Texas till the latter part of August and good paying crops expected. In Missouri it makes good paying crops planted the last of July.

In planting in rows, use four to five pounds of seed to the acre. May be planted in rows, with rows planted out about twice the size of that used for cane. The most common way is to lay off with large sweep, then follow with large sweep, then follow with a bed which cleans the land as you plant. Another good way to plant is to lay off a land and go round with planter as if you were breaking the land. In this latter way you will clean your land and at the same time plant practically broadcast. In this way you should use about twenty pounds of seed an acre, and the grass will outgrow other vegetation and will smother down anything that may come up, while if planted in rows, should be plowed at least once.

Sudan grass has proven to be a great success in all parts of the United States, and for seed is lower in price and is sure to become the leading standard hay crop. It will never become a pest, while it sprouts out readily from the stools when cut, the first frost kills it both root and top. It has to be planted every year, but only once a year to get several crops of hay that same year.

Sudan seed has been extremely high, but the price for seed is lower very reasonable and one can well afford to pay present prices for seed for the regular hay crop. Fact is, you cannot afford to not plant Sudan if you had to pay twice the present price for seed.

Since the first test was made at our Texas A. & M. college a few years ago, I have made Sudan grass a specialty, being so ensused when I saw the first plant just thirty days after planting which had not had a drop of rain since planting, and the grass shoulder high and ready for harvest. I have this year made Sudan grass a specialty, and I will give the best and most practical method of harvesting Sudan, both for hay and for seed. For quantity and quality, there is nothing that will stand Sudan grass, especially in hot, dry weather.

HOW LONG WILL TEXAS STAND FOR THIS?

These returns speak for themselves, and tell a tale that should bring a blush to the cheek of every citizen of Texas:

	For	Against
Duval	2	593
Starr	490
Webb	19	471
Totals	21	1,064

In Duval, all candidates who received any votes got exactly 50.

How long will the people of Texas stand for such a shameful and brazen system of Mexicanization of a ballot that may decide millions of candidates for the state of Texas in a close contest? The attorney general should give this his attention.

The timeliness of one plank in the platform adopted by the democratic convention of Mexican country is emphasized by this proceeding in Duval. That plank reads as follows:

"The right of suffrage is the most valuable asset of citizenship, and any invasion of that right strikes at the foundations of our institutions. The marshaling of votes by the use of improper agencies, and the control of elections by invisible power are evils which a people jealous of their liberties ought not to tolerate. We declare that it is of first importance to free the ballot from all sinister and selfish influence, and to restore equality of citizenship by making it impossible for any man to either buy or command another's vote."

The federal authorities found a way to put an end to election frauds upon the Mexican border which involve congressional elections. Is the state powers?

IN 1906 AND 1916.

Colquitt's claim that he is entitled to the nomination for the senate because he received a plurality of the vote is typical of his career, which has never regarded consistency as a virtue. In his "dying swan" speech before the democratic state convention in which Campbell was nominated for governor he said:

"I have said that I advocated a law which would have required the submission of the names of Thomas M. Campbell and Micajah M. Brooks to a second democratic primary in this state. I stand for that today, fellow citizens, even though it encompasses my aspirations and carries me down in defeat. I want no public office, I do not desire to occupy any public station, over the protests of an overwhelming expression of the people."

If it be true that he does not desire office "over the protests of the people," the voice of the coming primary will be sufficient to extinguish even his insatiable appetite.

Cactus, boiled, fried and baked, is a common eatable in Mexico as a result of famine, and hunger diseases have added their ravages to the woes of that unfortunate country. Unless Caranza is a hopeless idiot, he will embrace the opportunity for pacification afforded by our proposal that the joint commission to be created shall consider all questions relating to his country, internal as well as external.

The Bohemians of Texas, through their state fraternal organization in session at Galveston, strongly indorsed the foreign policies of the president. The hope of Colquitt that he will round up all voters of this nationality, and their descendants, through antagonism of the president, goes glimmering. It is the scheme of Oscar Colquitt to get foreign votes that is defective.

Submission's victory is conceded, and the only question to be decided is, when will the prohibition amendment be submitted? It has been assumed that the legislature will submit it next year, but this does not necessarily follow. The question is one for serious consideration, and the matured judgment of recognized leaders of the prohibition cause should control.

Villa seems to be fast declining from a revolutionary leader of the first class to a cow thief of the third class. One is a patriot and the other a pariah.

Two thousand is a rather small lead for submission, but with the Mexican vote eliminated it would be several thousand greater.

If Houston wants another state convention, she should see to it that no San Antonio waltzes are played during the one to be held there next week.

TEXAS BOYS AND EDUCATED BOYS TAKE HIGH PLACES

Austin, July 30.—A few years ago two country boys, one from Lone Oak, Hunt county, and one from Saginaw, Tarrant county, entered the University of Texas. Before coming to the university one of these boys had studied at Texas Christian university, the other at Polytechnic college. After taking their degrees from the University of Texas and doing special work, each in his chosen line of work, one of these young men went to the University of Chicago and was given the highest degree in collegiate circles, doctor of philosophy. The second young man went to the University of California and received the same degree. The University of Texas then called them back to teach; only last week Dr. C. C. Thomas, Doweil, the boy from Lone Oak, was called to the professorship of chemistry at Tulane university, New Orleans, and Dr. W. S. Hunter, the young man from Saginaw, was elected to the professorship of psychology in the University of Kansas.

It is a credit to Texas that its own home raised and home educated products are being called to other states to contribute their share to the education of the people. It may be a matter of news to some that former students of the University of Texas, and Texas reared and educated boys and girls, are now teaching in many of the leading universities of the nation, including Harvard, Princeton, the University of Pennsylvania, University of California, University of Chicago, Bryn Mawr college, Amherst college, University of Washington, University of Toronto, University of Virginia, Western Reserve university, Leland Stanford university, University of Wisconsin, University of Michigan, Boston university and the University of Maine.

First Bale at Brenham.
Brenham, July 30.—The first bale of the 1916 cotton crop to be brought to Brenham was given by Zeiss Brothers, Tuesday. Leo Kojichinski, arriving on the old Bassett place, two miles from town, raised and picked the cotton, which was given free by Zeiss Brothers.

Schmidt Brothers purchased the cotton for 12 1/2 cents, the cotton being classed as strict middling. This is the third bale of cotton to be given this year, the first being given at Chapel Hill, the second at Phillipsburg.

The Brenham oil mill gave the grower a premium of $2.50 for the first bale of seed brought in from this year's crop.

HAD HORRORS OF CHARITY.

Mother of New York Guardsman Preferred to Face Starvation.

A New York Guardsman at the border wrote the active service auxiliary that he would be tempted to desert unless something was done for his family. He was one of the thousands who were their mother and two younger children. Visiting the address given in the letter, the auxiliary's headquarters found the place locked. Climbing a fire escape, she peered into the rooms, which the mother was struggling to keep as a home for the two little ones. The bare cupboard shelves were mute evidence of the mother's distress.

In the cellar, the visitor found the two children, a boy of 5 and a girl of 13. The lad had fallen downstairs and hurt himself and his sister was taking care of him.

"I don't know where mother is," the girl said. "She goes out early every morning and doesn't come back until 12 or 1 o'clock at night. She is selling newspapers until the regiment comes back."

Then, simply, childishly, but with a mature understanding of the problem her mother was facing, she told how each morning she had to go to the market, how little money could be made at selling papers, and how she and her brother had to walk twenty blocks every day for a bit to eat at the home of an aunt.

Then, mother had heard of the place at the army where they helped soldiers' families," she said, "but she didn't want to go there. She didn't want to ask for help."

The investigator left word with the janitor for the mother to call at the headquarters of the auxiliary. When she arrived there, it was explained to her that the work of the organization was not charity, but that the work was made to its assistance while her older sons were with the colors. She had only $5 and she had not known what to do with the two little ones, the boy and girl whom she had been working so hard to keep a home.

MUSSELS MAY RIVAL OYSTERS.

An Abundant and Long Neglected Sea Food Becoming Popular.

(Hugh L. Smith in the National Geographic Magazine.)
A noteworthy case of neglect, followed by appreciation and utilization, is that of the sea mussel, one of the best and most abundant of marine foods. Hundreds of millions of pounds are eaten annually in Western Europe, but in the United States practically the only use made of them has been for fertilizer and bait.

In 1914 an advantageous opportunity was presented for introducing the mussel in one of the leading Boston hotels, and through the assistance of the newspaper the experiment attracted so much attention that within a few months mussels were, for the first time, being served and given a conspicuous place on the menu of the hotel. The mussels, principal hotels, clubs and restaurants of Boston.

The demand naturally spread to private houses and to adjacent communities, with the result that the mussel has become a regular commodity of the region, to the benefit of consumers, dealer and fishermen; and the knowledge of the food value of the mussel has gradually extended to other sections of the region, consumption over a wide area, both adjacent to and remote from the seaboard, is assured.

A very extensive mussel fishery will be developed on our Atlantic and Pacific coasts is inevitable. Mussels occur in vast numbers at all times and are reached by tongs and dredges. They are as nutritious as oysters and clams, and their shells being thinner, a given quantity contains more edible food than does the same bulk of oysters.

A further advantage is that they are in season at all times and are the best on the New England and Middle Atlantic coasts, where the oyster supplies in the markets are most reduced; namely, in summer.

Fight Against Boll Weevil.

Nacogdoches, July 30.—The citizens' committee of business men to receive and destroy the cotton squares brought in by farmers on each Saturday put 2,450,882 cotton squares to the flames Saturday in the afternoon. The committee got at the number by weighing up a pound of the squares, and counting them, and made the calculation on that basis, allowing 20 eggs of the boll weevil to the square, 49,017,440 eggs were destroyed.

WORLD'S CHIMNEY CORNER

Agricultural Situation of World Greatly Benefited by Results of World War

Rome, July 30.—Vast and beneficial changes in the world's agricultural situation are impending as a result of the war affecting the welfare of every farmer and the entire population of the world. The opinion expressed by the Associated Press by Marquis R. Capelli, president of the International Institute of Agriculture, is that the world's food supply could be, for the present, no food famine in Europe or elsewhere.

"I look for a development of agricultural progress similar to that which the world has seen in industry during the past quarter of a century," said Marquis Capelli. "The war has educated the world and has made it realize the immensity of the problems connected with food supply.

"People in cities who never gave a thought to food or its price have everywhere been compelled to consider how to get food at reasonable prices. Those who have not felt the pinch of such prices, because of their wealth or their remoteness from Europe can only, in some measure, understand the importance of the problems connected with food supply.

"In Europe and in Belgium many have risked their lives in the front lines in the endeavor to force from their land this indispensable product.

"Is there a romance more thrilling than their struggle of peaceful labor amid the crashing of bomb and shell?

FOOD SUPPLY MOST AGONIZING QUESTION.

"One of the most agonizing questions among all those which the light of this cataclysm has brought into such strong relief is that of the future of the food supply for the masses.

The record wars earned, the call to arms in every belligerent country, absorbing all the strength and youth of the nations, together with the mobilization in some neutral lands, the destruction in close sequence of crops and the loss of these things prove to be warnings that the grain crops may possibly fall short, and that famine may make its appearance sooner or later."

"This institute in Rome has, I may say, material at hand enabling it to consider the gravest of all questions, the problem of food, and to make it an international institution founded and supported by the governments of all civilized countries of the world. Personal interest and impending contingencies do not interfere with these energies, and they are available for almost any task for the well being of the whole world.

In place of watching an unlimited advance in prices brought about by unscrupulous traders and mendacious reports, culminating in the approach of the spectre of famine, as in former days, the institute has definitely ascertained that last season's grain crops throughout the world were decidedly greater than the normal harvests, and that the nations can rest assured of at least a sufficiency for the present.

Nevertheless, have not the coming crops a less promising outlook, on account of the drawbacks, which are so real, already enumerated?

"I would point to the latest bulletin of the institute demonstrating by convincing figures that, even if the approaching harvests should not prove so abundant as the previous ones, the prospect is a better one."

MASS MEETING ON EIGHT HOUR LAW IS AROUSING INTEREST

With the great railroad strike of four brotherhoods scheduled to begin on August 6, considerable attention here centers in the mass meeting on this question which will be held in Waco Wednesday night by the union train employees. Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the federal industrial commission, which made an exhaustive study of wage scales a year ago, will be the principal speaker for the meeting. It is planned to hold the gathering on the vacant lot at Eighth and Austin, beginning at 8 p. m.

R. O. Perkins of Fort Worth, chairman of the publicity in Texas of the four brotherhoods involved in the proposed strike arrangements, has been in this city working on the plans for the meeting. A meeting of the executive committee of the railway employees will be held at the Knights of Columbus hall on Wednesday afternoon.

Despite the imminence of the strike and its gigantic proportions, the public generally until within the last few days have seemed to have only a mild interest in the matter. It is generally conceded that if the strike were prolonged for any considerable amount of time that transportation over a large area of the nation would be crippled and commerce would be badly handicapped.

An interesting feature of the proposed strike, which has been suggested, has been the attitude which the government would take under severe conditions. It is realized that the rapid transportation of the mails is the pride of the federal government, and summary action would probably result from the tie-up of the United States mails.

W. V. Crawford Speaks to Rotary Club Today on Advertising

"The Advertising Game" will be the theme of an address by W. V. Crawford at the regular weekly luncheon of the Waco Rotary club today at the New State House. Mr. Crawford, who is advertising manager of Sanger Bros. and past president of the Associated Advertising clubs of Texas, is one of the best known men in the state in his line and has a long experience from which to draw for an address.

Bert R. Burr will preside as toastmaster for today's luncheon and P. A. Duncan is slated to give the thought for the day. The weekly prize for the fortunate member will be given by Mr. Crawford.

The Rotary letter announcing today's program carries this definition of the much-used term, "service."

"Service is that which produces satisfaction and makes you want to continue your patronage. If you go into a restaurant and the waiter greets you with a growl, takes your order, brings it, and then stands back and makes you miserable, although the food is good and the check is correct, you haven't had service. Service is more than merely selling something. It consists of selling the right thing at the right price, in the right way. Rotary members give service."

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW.

New Orleans, July 30.—Trading in cotton here last week was based chiefly on opinions regarding the situation in the eastern belt and the condition report due from the government Tuesday. Sentiment grew more bullish and prices scored a moderately wide advance.

At the highest levels of the week trading months were 31 to 35 points over the last quotations of the preceding week. The net change was a gain of 21 to 27 points.

The demand was stimulated by accounts of damage from the continued rainy weather in the eastern belt and by private forecasts of the condition report.

The old crop season comes to an end Monday and annual statistics may play some part in the market, since figures on the size of the commercial crop and on consumption are important.

Bertram Fair Boosters.
Quite a number of Bertram fair boosters were abroad last Tuesday. There were five cars and some twenty persons, among them Messrs. G. G. White, John Bryson, C. A. Godlin and others. The fair will take place on August 2, 3 and 4 and promises to be a great success. The Y. M. B. L. band of Georgetown will go to Bertram and furnish music for the occasion.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

The first bales of cotton have been received in Williamson and several other counties about on that latitude; this is not so very far south of Waco, and yet it is far enough to make a difference and to show that even forty or fifty miles will have an effect on the opening of cotton.

The regular meeting of the Waco Builders' exchange will come tomorrow night, and President E. H. Bruiere is particularly anxious to see a large number out to the gathering. A special effort is now being made to increase the membership of the organization, and every possible means will be employed to make this step a distinct success.

Already interest is growing keen in the race for United States senator in the run-off between Culbertson and Colquitt. The friends and supporters of the two men are lining up and pretty soon the race will be on in earnest. The primary to settle the matter will be held August 26, and this will soon be here.

J. C. Brown, traveling engineer of the Cotton Belt railroad, who has been so ill at the New State House as the result of heat prostration while out on the line recently, was doing very well last night, but is still confined to his room and to his bed part of the time. It was hoped that he might be able to go home last night, but physicians advised against this, and he did not attempt it. Mrs. Brown is still with him. It is thought that it will not be long, if he has no setback, before he is able to get out again, and go home.

PERSONAL MENTION

A. L. Burk of Lufkin was in the city yesterday.

J. C. Muse Jr. of Dallas was in Waco yesterday.

Theodore Matthews and wife of Pardon spent yesterday in the city.

Mrs. Walter Reese and Clarence Reese are still enjoying the pleasures of a coast visit.

Plant, Chop and Pick Cotton at Same Time

A letter has been received by R. N. McKnight of this city, from a business associate who has been in the coast country, and in this letter it is stated that the writer was on the Taft farm in the Corpus Christi section the other day and saw men planting cotton, chopping cotton and picking cotton, all on this one farm.

This was an unusual condition even for Texas, which presents some varied conditions, and was brought about by the drought. The first cotton, or that which was being picked, was of course the early planting; the cotton which was being chopped was some which was planted later on account of the drought intervening after the first planting, and the last lot which was being planted was also a result of the drought, the hope being that with a late fall this might yet make something. The area of the droughty region is not very large in so far as the really cultivable land is concerned, but it has been the most severe which has visited that region in a long time.

John B. McNamara Expresses Appreciation.

The election returns having been canvassed by the county executive committee and my nomination as county attorney declared, I desire to express to my friends and supporters publicly, as I have to many of them privately, my appreciation for their assistance during the campaign and at the polls. To the great body of voters who by their ballots effected my nomination I am grateful; to that large number of faithful friends who labored long and unselfishly in my behalf, and without whose co-operation my candidacy must have failed, I am more than grateful. Only by the highest character of official conduct and the truest type of public service can I justify their confidence and, in a measure, reward their labors.

For my opponent and those who supported him, I have only the kindest feelings, and I trust they will unite with me, wherever possible, in my effort to continue in McLennan county a firm and impartial administration of the criminal law.

THEATRES

HIPPODROME.

"The Captive God." With each succeeding year the task of handling a mob for purposes of a picture play seem to approach a greater degree of efficiency. System now plays a big part in the conduct of the big motion picture plants and little time is wasted because of inability to care for a small army speedily. The operation of system in this respect is said to have been strikingly demonstrated in Inceville, California, during the production of "The Captive God," the new Ince-Hart picture showing at the Hippodrome today and Tuesday. This great drama called for more "extras" than has any play to date from the Ince corner of the Triangle. Its scenes include those of vast marching armies stretching into the distance as far as the eye can see, and in making them for the screen it was necessary to engage over 2,500 men for a period of two weeks. One hundred dressing rooms were made to serve for the men, and the lunches were handed to them in packages as they marched by, a trumpet calling them back to work at the end of half an hour. William Hart not only stars in the picture but was one of the most active of the directors of it. As the Spaniard leader of the Tehuan Indians in ancient Mexico he gives a new and powerful characterization to the screen.

The Tehuans and the Aztecs with their barbarous religion and customs are bitter enemies, and the former are surprised by the latter and betrayed by a faithless woman of the tribe. Later Chiapa, the Spaniard leader, goes to the Aztec walls to spy and is wounded by a guard. He is cared for and concealed by the Princess Lolomi, but a brave to whom she has been promised, the rascally Moxitli, finds Chiapa and turns him over to the ruler. He is condemned to be sacrificed to the god of the Aztecs. The rescue is one of the most thrilling affairs and most gigantic scenes ever filmed and the production an amazing spectacle.

William S. Hart in "The Captive God," today and tomorrow.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

The first bales of cotton have been received in Williamson and several other counties about on that latitude; this is not so very far south of Waco, and yet it is far enough to make a difference and to show that forty or fifty miles will have an effect on the opening of cotton.

The regular meeting of the Waco Builders' exchange will come tomorrow night, and President E. H. Bruyere is particularly anxious to see a large number out to the gathering. A special effort is now being made to increase the membership of the organization, and every possible means will be employed to make this step a distinct success.

Already interest is growing keen in the race for United States senator in the run-off between Culberson and Colquitt. The friends and supporters of the two men are lining up and pretty soon the race will be on in earnest. The primary to settle the matter will be held August 26, and this will soon be here.

J. C. Brown, traveling engineer of the Cotton Belt railroad, who has been so ill at the New State House as the result of heat prostration while out on the line recently, was doing very well last night, but is still confined to his room and to his bed part of the time. It was hoped that he might be able to go home last night, but physicians advised against this, and he did not attempt it. Mrs. Brown is still with him. It is thought that it will not be long, if he has no setback, before he is able to get out again, and go home.

PERSONAL MENTION

A. L. Burk of Lufkin was in the city yesterday.

J. C. Muse Jr. of Dallas was in Waco yesterday.

Theodore Matthews and wife of Purdon spent yesterday in the city.

Mrs. Walter Reese and Clarence Reese are still enjoying the pleasures of a coast visit.

Plant, Chop and Pick Cotton at Same Time

A letter has been received by R. N. McKnight of this city, from a business associate who has been in the coast country, and in this letter it is stated that the writer was on the Taft farm in the Corpus Christi section the other day and saw men planting cotton, chopping cotton and picking cotton, all on this one farm.

This was an unusual condition even for Texas, which presents some varied conditions, and was brought about by the drought. The first cotton, or that which was being picked, was of course the early planting; the cotton which was being chopped was some which was planted later on account of the drought intervening after the first planting; and the last lot which was being planted was also a result of the drought, the hope being that with a late fall this might yet make something.

The area of the droughty region is not very large in so far as the really cultivable land is concerned, but it has been the most severe which has visited that region in a long time.

John B. McNamara Expresses Appreciation.

The election returns having been canvassed by the county executive committee and my nomination as county attorney declared, I desire to express to my friends and supporters publicly, as I have to many of them privately, my appreciation for their assistance during the campaign and at the polls. To the great body of voters who by their ballots effected my nomination I am grateful; to that large number of faithful friends who labored long and unselfishly in my behalf, and without whose co-operation my candidacy must have failed, I am more than grateful. Only by the highest character of official conduct and the truest type of public service can I justify their confidence and, in a measure, reward their labors.

For my opponent and those who supported him, I have only the kindest feelings, and I trust they will unite with me, whenever possible, in my effort to continue in McLennan county a firm and impartial administration of the criminal law.

(Adv.) JOHN B. MCNAMARA.

THEATRES

HIPPODROME.

"The Captive God." With each succeeding year the task of handling a mob for purposes of a picture play seem to approach a greater degree of efficiency. System now plays a big part in the conduct of the big motion picture plants and little time is wasted because of inability to care for a small army speedily. The operation of system in this respect is said to have been strikingly demonstrated in Inceville, California, during the production of "The Captive God," the new Ince-Hart picture showing at the Hippodrome today and Tuesday. This great drama called for more "extras" than has any play to date from the Ince corner of the Triangle. Its scenes include those of vast marching armies stretching into the distance as far as the eye can see, and in making them for the screen it was necessary to engage over 2,500 men for a period of two weeks. One hundred dressing rooms were made to serve for the men, and the lunches were handed to them in packages as they marched by, a trumpet calling them back to work at the end of half an hour. William Hart not only stars in the picture but was one of the most active of the directors of it. As the Spaniard leader of the Tehuan Indians in ancient Mexico he gives a new and powerful characterization to the screen.

The Tehuans and the Aztecs with their barbarous religion and customs are bitter enemies, and the former are surprised by the latter and berayed by a faithless woman of the tribe. Later Chiapa, the Spaniard leader, goes to the Aztec walls to spy and is wounded by a guard. He is cared for and concealed by the Princess Lolomi, but a brave to whom she has been promised, the rascally Mexitli, finds Chiapa and turns him over to the ruler. He is condemned to be sacrificed to the god of the Aztecs. The rescue is one of the most thrilling affairs and most gigantic scenes ever filmed and the production an amazing spectacle.

One of these matters is that of the proposed head camp for Texas of the Maccabees, but there also will be a lot of other business.

Sick; Friendless, Tired of Living, Tries Suicide; Fails

Lying on the floor with a pillow under his head, with his throat slashed on the right side and both wrists cut, R. G. Coats, a man 67 years of age, was found about 7:15 yesterday morning by an employee of the Cotton Belt hotel, which is located on South Third street between Franklin and Mary streets, west side of the street.

Coats was not fatally injured, and was removed to the Provident sanitarium, after he had been given medical attention by City Physician M. D. Baker. Coats came to the hotel Saturday night and took a room, probably coming to Waco from either Brownwood or Fort Worth, as indicated by a note which he left.

In the note Coats said that he hated to commit suicide, but that he had had health for some time, and had been suffering since last January with kidney trouble and trouble with his stomach; that he had no home and no relatives, had spent about all his money and it looked like there was no relief to be had from his poor health. He stated further that he had not eaten a square meal in about three weeks. Coats said further in the note that he was willing for the doctors or medical students to have his body for the purpose of dissecting it, though he stated that he thought it was found in very bad condition from the ravages of disease. He was born in Jackson county, Illinois, so the writing stated, and the only property he had consisted of a few things of small value which could be had by writing to J. T. Campbell and Scott Williams at Brownwood; a suit case was in Fort Worth in the express office and it was worth several times the express charges on it, said the writer of the note.

An examination of the injuries sustained by Coats showed that the injuries in and of themselves did not amount to very much, as no arteries had been severed, and the cuts were not deep. Coats, however, appeared to be practically unconscious when found, and though he opened his eyes occasionally seemed unable to talk. A razor was found lying on a table, indicating that he had used this in the slashing which had been done. Either Coats was weak from long fasting or else his nerve failed him at the last, as proper use of the razor he could have cut deep enough to have killed himself by a vigorous stroke or two.

The hotel employee who found Coats reported the matter immediately to Police Officers Mike Tomahill and Neer at the city hall, and they went at once to the hotel to make a personal inspection of the situation, securing medical attention for the injured man and doing what else they could to get him relief. There was not very much blood on the floor of the hotel room, but the officers said that Coats really "looked like he did not have very much blood in him."

Drew Line on Hoaxer's Sass

A young man who is alleged to have worked a swindling scheme on passengers on the Texas Central railroad, and then to have "cussed" out several parties who tried to talk to him about the matter, was captured yesterday morning by Police Officer Dan Nicholson near the Katy depot after a long and hot chase over the tops of buildings, down alleys and around in the section about the depot.

He was landed in the city calaboose and will be removed to the county jail unless he gives bond. It is stated that the game he tried to work on passengers was so palpably a fake that one or two railroad officials and some passengers forced him to give back money he had taken from passengers, and that then the young fellow got "sassy" and abusive, until it was decided to turn him in on reaching Waco, which was done.

It was stated by some of those on board that if the young fellow had not been so impudent to those who tried to talk with and reason with him about the matter, he might not have been turned over to the authorities.

Builders Are Starting Campaign Now for New Members

Secretary O. N. Liggett of the Dallas Builders' Exchange, who is in Waco for the purpose of aiding in putting new life into the Waco Builders' Exchange and practically reorganizing the Waco aggregation of builders, or at least adding a lot of new members if possible, will be able to put on many it is thought, as President E. H. Bruyere and two or three others of the Waco builders have already done a lot of preparatory work.

A committee of several builders probably will be formed this morning to go out with Secretary Liggett and gather in the new material, and this committee will so divide itself and regulate itself as that there will be someone to go with Mr. Liggett all the time. Mr. Liggett was formerly a resident of Waco and expresses wonder amounting to almost amazement at the tremendous growth which has been recorded here in the past ten years.

He will remain over, probably, until the regular meeting of the Waco Builders' exchange, which comes Tuesday night.

CAMP OF GIRL GUARDS IS GETTING ATTENTION

TEXAS ENCAMPMENT FOR YOUNG WOMEN "ROOKIES" WILL BE HELD IN FORT WORTH.

Miss Virginia Lazenby of This City Is the Leader of Texas' Honor Guard.

It is expected that this city will be well represented in the state encampment of the Girls' National Honor Guard at Fort Worth, August 14-23. Miss Virginia Lazenby of Waco is the Texas manager of the guard and is taking an active interest in lining up a large representation from the largest cities of the state. Miss Kate Lehane of the Panther city has been named as lieutenant of the volunteers of her city and is taking active management of the camp.

The camp site is declared to be a most excellent one on the bank of Lake Worth, and the people of Fort Worth promise every favor and courtesy to the visiting young women. Tents will be pitched in the shade of the trees and drills will be held near the inland beach. All equipment for the camp will be furnished by Fort Worth citizens.

The volunteers will be trained for hospital and "first aid" service. Among the amusements planned for the camp are target practice, archery, motor boating, canoeing. The class work will be under the auspices of the Red Cross and the lessons will be given by physicians of the Panther city.

Miss Lehane has been devoting her attention and earnest efforts to the forthcoming encampment for the past several weeks since her appointment as lieutenant by Miss Lazenby of Waco. The organization has recently been marked by a spirit of progress and the encampment is expected to add greatly to the state membership. Misses Genevieve Carver of Wichita Falls and Lucy Morris of Tyler, who were visiting in Fort Worth when Miss Lehane's appointment was announced, also have received commissions as lieutenants and will take up the work of organization in their respective cities. It is expected that 1000 Texas young women will enroll in the new organization and Fort Worth is counted on for 100 of them.

The organization is not militaristic in character, but its idea is to prepare women to take up all of the various lines of work which would fall to them in time of war.

Enlistment carries no obligation to go to the front and the girls are not required to do field work, hospital work or other hard service unless they elect to do so. Three "corps" are provided. The first is "First Aid for the Wounded," the work of which embraces the cutting and rolling of bandages, making sponges, sterilizing instruments, disinfecting, distributing supplies, cooking and caring for beds and the use of tourniquet and thermometer.

Corps No. 2, "First Aid for Soldiers' Families," calls for members to take care of soldiers and sailors when the mothers are unable to do so, and to do social service, nursing and the reading and writing of letters.

The province of Corps No. 3 is general utility service, including driving automobiles, riding, shooting, swimming, driving motor boats, telegraph and wireless codes and stenographic knowledge.

Miss Lehane is telling all applicants that they must regard their enlistment as a serious thing and not as a passing fad.

Women should learn a lesson from the magnificent work of the women of Europe," she said, "and we should prepare ourselves to step into the breach as those brave women are called upon to do in the future. The United States. The Girls' National Honor Guard is a splendid organization and its purposes are noble, and I shall endeavor to organize a company here that will be a credit to the state of Texas."

Upon arrival in Fort Worth, all of those attending will be met at the station by the National Honor Guard of girls of Fort Worth, and from the station they will be quickly whisked out to the camping grounds in cars furnished by Fort Worth people. Miss Lazenby stated that all the railroad would give special rates to those going. Young married women and girls who are interested in attending the en-

United Charities Is in Need of Boys' Clothing

Clothing for children from 4 to 12 years of age, either for boys or girls, is wanted very much by Secretary William Lambdin of the United Charities, and there are several families right now in need of such clothing. Secretary Lambdin said yesterday afternoon that he hoped persons having the clothing would get in touch with him, as he has a place for it right away. While there is not any more destitution now than is usually the case at this time of the year, still the matter of clothing seems to be a little more pressing than is ordinarily the case.

Number Baylor People Are Spending Summer in Chicago University

Roy L. Morris, member of the 1915 graduating class of the Baylor university, who has just returned from a six-weeks' summer course at Chicago university, says that there are some thirty or forty Baylor students there for work during the summer. Many of them are recent graduates of Baylor and some of them have been out for a number of years.

Miss Hallie Jameson, 1424 North Fifth street, and Miss Mary Archibald, 914 North Thirteenth street, both members of the 1915 class, are among the Wacoans spending the summer at the university, said Mr. Morris. He explained that Texans were numerous in the summer student body at Chicago.

Sick; Friendless, Tired of Living, Tries Suicide; Fails

Lying on the floor with a pillow under his head, with his throat slashed on the right side and both wrists cut, R. G. Coats, a man 47 years of age, was found about 7:15 yesterday morning by an employee of the Cotton Belt hotel, which is located on South Third street between Franklin and Mary streets, west side of the street.

Coats was not fatally injured, and was removed to the Provident sanitarium, after he had been given medical attention by City Physician M. D. Baker. Coats came to the hotel Saturday night and took a room, probably coming to Waco from either Brownwood or Fort Worth, as indicated by a note which he left.

In the note Coats said that he had committed suicide, but that he had had bad health for some time, and had been suffering since last January with kidney trouble and trouble with his stomach; that he had no home and no relatives, had spent about all his money and it looked like there was no relief to be had from his poor health. He stated further that he had not eaten a square meal in about three weeks. Coats said further in the note that he was willing for the doctors or medical students to have his body for the purpose of dissecting it, though he stated that he thought it would be found in very bad condition from the ravages of disease. He was born in Jackson county, Illinois, so the writing stated and the only property he had consisted of a few things of small value which could be had by writing to J. T. Campbell and Scott Williams at Brownwood; a suit case was in Fort Worth in the express office and it was worth several times the express charges on it, said the writer of the note.

An examination of the injuries sustained by Coats showed that the injuries in and of themselves did not amount to very much, as no arteries had been severed, the cuts were not deep. Coats, however, appeared to be practically unconscious when found, and though he opened his eyes occasionally seemed unable to talk. A razor was found lying on a table, indicating that he had used this in the slashing which had been done. Either Coats was weak from long fasting or else his nerve failed him at the last, as by proper use of the razor he could have cut deep enough to have killed himself by a vigorous stroke or two.

The hotel employee who found Coats reported the matter immediately to Police Officers Mike Tonahill and Neale at the city hall, and they went at once to the hotel to make a personal inspection of the situation, securing medical attention for the injured man and doing what else they could to get him relief. There was not very much blood on the floor of the hotel room, but the officers said that Coats really "looked like he did not have very much blood in him."

Drew Line on Hoaxer's Sass

A young man who is alleged to have worked a swindling scheme on passengers on the Texas Central railroad, and then to have "cussed" out several parties who tried to talk to him about the matter, was captured yesterday morning by Police Officer Dan Nicholson near the Katy depot after a long and hot chase over the tops of buildings, down alleys and around in the section about the depot.

He was landed in the city calaboose and will be removed to the county jail unless he gives bond. It is stated that the game he tried to work on passengers was so palpably a fake that one or two railroad officials and some passengers forced him to give back money he had taken from passengers, and that then the young fellow got "sassy" and abusive, until it was decided to turn him in on reaching Waco, which was done.

It was stated by some of those on board that if the young fellow had not been so impudent to those who tried to talk with and reason with him about the matter, he might not have been turned over to the authorities.

Builders Are Starting Campaign Now for New Members

Secretary O. N. Liggett of the Dallas Builders' Exchange, who is in Waco for the purpose of adding in putting new life into the Waco Builders' Exchange and practically reorganizing the Waco aggregation of builders, or at least adding a lot of new members if possible, will be able to put on many it is thought, as President E. H. Bruyere and two or three others of the Waco builders have already done a lot of preparatory work.

A committee of several builders probably will be formed this morning to go out with Secretary Liggett and gather in the new material, and this committee will so divide itself and regulate itself as that there will be someone to go with Mr. Liggett all the time. Mr. Liggett was formerly a resident of Waco and expresses wonder amounting to almost amazement at the tremendous growth which has been recorded here in the past ten years.
